Freak 100 Mile Hurricane Rips Savannah

LOUD SPEAKERS WAKE CITY, GIVE FIRST WARNING

Widespread Damage Left In Wake Of Storm—Guard Patrols Streets

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 15—

Freak hurricane winds, estimated at a velocity of 100 miles an hour, struck an unprepared Savannah today, leaving widespread wreckage in its wake.

The storm, which was moving northward up the Atlantic coast, made a sudden turn toward the west, sliced into the historic Georgia coastal city with little warning, and howled inland across the state.

No injuries were reported immediately.

Tibb island, lying off Savannah, was successfully evacuated before the storm hit about 7 a. m.

Plate glass windows of stores and window glass in homes was broken. There was insufficient warning to board them.

NATIONAL guardsmen were called out to patrol the streets against looting.

Communications were almost completely wiped out in the city. Cars with loud speakers gave sleeping Savannah citizens their first warning that the storm had turned inland.

Electricity and water went out in most parts of the city.

Stores opened, however, in spite of the strong winds in the predawn hours. Their stocks of candles and bread were almost sold out as residents stocked up in last-minute preparation for the assault of the elements.

The last serious hurricane to strike Savannah was Aug. 11, 1940, when residents went three days without food stocks, lights or adequate drinking water.

Most widespread damage was expected in a newly-developed veterans' housing area southeast of Savannah. It is the lowest area of town. Water rose as high as six feet there.

High winds extended 150 miles inland.

WHITE HOUSE CANCELS ALL STATE DINNERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—The White House today cancelled all of its state dinners for the season "because of the urgent necessity for the conservation of food."

The announcement was made by Mrs. James M. Helm, White House social secretary.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

The CIO convention in Boston and the AFL convention in San Francisco sent their best wishes to each other and their worst to Taft and Hartley.

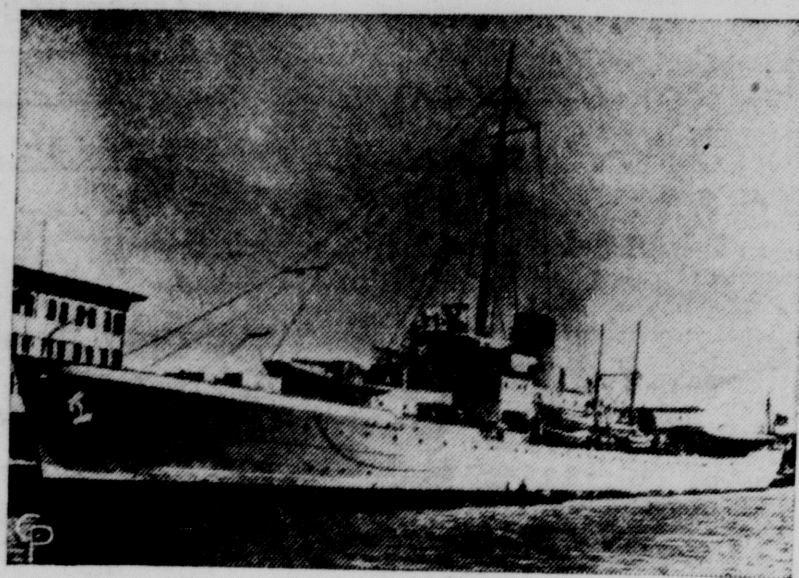

Meanwhile "I Like Ike" campaign buttons have begun to appear. . . I hear he will demand a fair trial.

The road of vanquished and victor is equally difficult. Nothing at the end but the gallows in Nuremberg or the hot seat in Washington.

But associates of Dewey say a Taft-Stassen combine cannot stop him. . . they're even certain he can be started again.

Since Stassen was seen speaking civilly to Taft the odds on his nomination have shifted. . . If he ever gets talking to Hoover he's through.

But I hear Hoover wired Taft, "when you think you're being abused come over and look at my scrapbook."

Coast Guard Cutter Bibb aided plane

Site of flying boat's crash landing

FORCED DOWN in mid-Atlantic by gas-consuming headwinds, a Boeing flying boat of American International Airlines landed safely and transferred its 69 passengers and crewmen to the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Bibb, on weather-station duty three miles away. Plane was en route from Ireland to Newfoundland.

"Plutonium" Not a Hot Dog At All—On Way Back To Ship and Ham Bones

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—Plutonium, the Bikini dog suspected of radioactivity, has a clean bill of health and is on her way back today to ship's cook John Conofro, of Bremerton, Wash., and his ham bones.

The dog, of uncertain ancestry, was discovered on Bikini island by the survey party from the U. S. S. Chilton making a "year after" check on the effects of the atom bombardment of the atoll.

When first sighted, Plutonium was coy and shy of sailors, but Donofrio and Seabees Milton West of New York and Red Christman of Allentown, Pa., rigged up a "figure four" trap, baited it with a ham bone, and Plutonium was theirs.

BECAUSE it was believed the black and white mongrel may

JOHN L. VOTED OUT OF HIGH AFL COMMAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15—The San Francisco convention of the American Federation of Labor tackled Hollywood's inter-union warfare today after handing John L. Lewis one of the most resounding rebuffs of his tempestuous career.

Yesterday's debate centering around Lewis and his refusal to sign a non-Communist affidavit under a provision of the Taft-Hartley law brought the convention to its peak of tension. The veteran mine union leader thundered out a demand that the AFL boycott the National Labor Board, but the convention defeated him by a standing vote of more than ten to one.

By that tally, far more than the required two-thirds majority—the delegates voted to abolish the federation's 13 vice presidencies. And by the same token they voted "old John L." out of the AFL's high command.

XAVIER CUGAT TO WED ACTRESS LORRAINE ALLEN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15—Bandleader Xavier Cugat announced today that he will wed Hollywood actress Lorraine Allen in Philadelphia this afternoon.

The marriage will be the second for both Miss Allen and the 47-year-old rumba king.

have lived through the bombing, and had lived on the island since, eating what may well have been radioactive clams, crabs and other uncooked seafood, she was scheduled for examination at the naval medical center, Bethesda, Md.

But first Plutonium was kept at Hunters Point, Calif., radioactivity laboratory—presumably with a Geiger counter in the kennel—for a check before shipment.

At Hunters Point she was found to be less than dangerous from a radioactive standpoint, and technicians there recommended she be given to the Chilton as a mascot.

The recommendation was forwarded through channels to the Navy department at Washington. There the braid considered it, and sentiment won. Plutonium would go back to the Chilton.

Hunters Point was notified through channels.

Consignment of Plutonium to the Chilton was a blow to science. Much might have been learned from a really radioactive dog, even though she was just a friendly nondescript mongrel who couldn't talk.

And it probably was a blow to the anonymous seaman who, considering her possibly radioactivity, remarked:

"THERE GOES the world's only real living hot dog."

When the dog was first found, it was named Pluto. But closer examination revealed this to be too masculine a name. Plutonium, being neuter, was chosen as a compromise between the original mistake and the true facts.

HURRICANE TO RAISE FEW HIGH CLOUDS IN OHIO

The extreme fringe of the hurricane playing along the southern Atlantic coast was expected to raise a few high clouds and perhaps a shower or two in southern Ohio by tomorrow.

There will be nothing serious since the storm will have lost practically all of its zing by the time it touches Ohio.

The rest of the state was promised a continuation of mild conditions which have held sway for the last two weeks.

BREWING SLASH DEMANDED BY TRUMAN BOARD

Smaller Loaves Of Bread Considered As Means Of Grain Saving

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—President Truman's food conservation committee today demanded a slash in beer production and considered reducing the size of bread loaves to speed up its grain-saving drive.

Chairman Charles Luckman plans a series of conferences during the next few days with representatives of the brewing and baking industries to line up the nation's bakers and beer-makers behind his program.

Luckman told a news conference that he definitely believes that beer production must be reduced to save grain and he revealed that the question of smaller loaves of bread has been under discussion.

The food committee chairman, obviously pleased by what he considered favorable public response to his campaign, also promised the nation that the food-saving drive will be eased when conservation goals are met.

HE DECLARED that when 100 million bushels of grain, which President Truman maintains is needed for foreign relief, have been saved his committee will relax the restrictions urged on the nation.

But, Luckman said that "no changes are contemplated" in the conservation program at the present time. He specifically denied that elimination of poultryless days is being considered.

The food-saving drive, meanwhile, moved well into its second week with reports of improved public observances of "meatless Tuesday" and committee officials confident that their "eggless and poultryless Thursday" will get more support.

THE FOOD committee also announced that it has no objections to the American people eating meat by-products such as liver, kidneys, brains, sweetbreads, pigs feet, tripe, oxtail and tongue on meatless Tuesdays.

ANNOUNCEMENT NEARS ON TAFT ANNOUNCEMENT

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15—A formal announcement of a formal announcement as to when and where he will announce his candidacy for the presidency is ruled out of the question—expected tomorrow by U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft.

The Cincinnati Republican, who previously has said only that he will announce his decision "about October 24," comes to Columbus late today or tomorrow for the Fall meeting of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's organizations.

At tomorrow evening's banquet session he is to share the speaker's rostrum with former Minnesota Governor Harold E. Stassen, an avowed candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

The Ohio Republican organization already has labeled Taft as its favorite son candidate as soon as he formally accepts that designation. Under Ohio law he may not be a "favorite son" without his formal, written consent.

MARSHALL PLAN GAINS LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 15—U. S. Secretary of State

Marshall's proposal for a year-round "Little Assembly" headed into sharp debate in the United Nations today, but there were forecasts it would win an eventual majority vote. China led the way among the Big Five powers in supporting the U. S. move.

Soviet Warned It Will Not Be Permitted To Veto Peace On Earth

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 15—The Danish communist newspaper Land of Folk today referred to Former Secretary of State James Byrnes' memoirs as "fantastic warplans by Byrnes against the Soviet".

The paper also said: "America's former foreign minister and Truman's friend beats all records in warmongering."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—James F. Byrnes, former secretary of state, bluntly warned the leaders of Soviet Russia today that as Hitler learned, so must they: "the world is not going to permit one nation to veto peace on earth."

Byrnes' admonition to the rulers of Russia is one of the highlights of his book, "Speaking Frankly", a candid account of his efforts as war mobilization director and as a peacemaking secretary of state.

The story tells of secret "Big Three" deals at Yalta; of Byrnes' many encounters with the stubborn Soviet foreign minister, V. M. Molotov; of the intra-cabinet battle which resulted in resignation of Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce.

SHOWDOWN WITH REDS APPEARS NEAR IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Oct. 15—Police detachments were stationed at Havana bus and trolley car stations today to prevent walkouts of transport workers in a general strike scheduled today.

Radio station "Mil Diez," once owned by the Communists and now operated by the popular Socialist party, was shut down by the government and a showdown with the Communists appeared in the making.

It was reported orders have gone out to arrest leaders of unions participating in the strike.

Police in Havana and some troop units were held in readiness for emergency action.

Minister of Labor Carlos Prio Socarras has warned the strike "will not be tolerated."

Benito Herrera, chief of the secret police, labeled the strike call a "political maneuver."

MOVIE EXTRA PONDERS EXTRA WIVES IN JAIL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15—"Dancing Daddy" O'Neill, a waltz-me-around former movie extra of 51 years, pondered in jail today the misfortune of being married to four women at the same time.

Superior Judge Edward R. Brand dismissed a fourth bigamy count against the "dance hall Romeo" in finding him guilty of three bigamy charges.

O'Neill, whose "mystic charm" on a ballroom swept eight women into matrimony with him listened with an amused smile as his marrying escapades were related in court by four blushing gray-haired women.

Wife No. 8 didn't testify. Instead, she blew a kiss to her Gerald as he was led away to jail.

Solons Hunt War Planes Fraud, Waste

Procurement Program Put Under Investigation By Committee

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—A congressional committee launched an investigation today into the giant wartime aircraft procurement program in search of fraud and waste.

Rep. George H. Bender (R) Ohio, chairman of a house executive expenditures sub-committee, requested Secretary of Defense Forrestal to furnish his five-member group with key data on all major aircraft programs entered into during the war by the armed services.

An estimated forty-five billion dollars was spent on the aircraft program in the largest expenditure entailed during the war.

A committee spokesman declared:

"WHILE THE aircraft program as a whole was highly successful, our preliminary evidence already shows millions of dollars were wasted. The committee has decided to probe the extent, the character and the cause of such waste and to discover whether any frauds existed in the handling of the aircraft procurement program."

In another step taken, Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren is being asked to audit the wartime contracts. Bender is expected to confer with Warren later this month on the details.

The committee's probe is the first independent investigation

MARSHALL MAY PRESENT NEW MAJOR POLICY

BOSTON, Oct. 15—Secretary of State Marshall's address before the national CIO convention this afternoon overshadows the anticipated fight between right and left wing factions over adoption of a foreign policy resolution.

Marshall, who announced his plan to aid the starving and hungry in Europe at the Harvard commencement last June, is expected to make another major policy declaration in Boston today.

His last-minute acceptance of an invitation to address the CIO came shortly before CIO leaders disclosed that the resolutions committee had adopted a compromise plan backing the Marshall plan.

The resolution expected to provide firework on the convention floor, did not mention the plan by name, however.

(The rival AFL convention in San Francisco adopted the Marshall plan and lashed Russian efforts "to provoke economic chaos.")

CUBAN PRESIDENT TO FACE TREASON CHARGES

HAVANA, Oct. 15—The Cuban supreme court decided today to forward to the senate charges of treason against President Grau San Martin.

The charges were made by Feliciano Maderna, one of the leaders of the unsuccessful expeditionary force that attempted to invade the Dominican republic.

Testifying before an investigating magistrate, Maderna charged that the President was one of the leaders and organizers of the expedition.

The Cuban constitution provides that when the president commits a crime endangering the peace of the state, he shall be tried by the senate sitting as a tribunal.

69 OCCUPANTS OF SKY QUEEN SAFE ON CUTTER

Small Boat And Liferaft Used In Unparalleled Transfer At Sea

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—The U. S. Coast guard cutter Bibb completed the epic mid-Atlantic rescue of 69 seaskick occupants of the Bermuda Sky Queen today and prepared to sink the derelict flying-boat with gunfire.

Twenty-five passengers and crewmen were removed this morning from the bobbing four-motored plane to complete a saga unparalleled in annals of the sea.

The rescue of the largest number of paying passengers ever to set out to fly the Atlantic was affected by small boat and liferaft without casualties, except for one minor laceration and bruises to a crewman.

THE HUGE Boeing, operated by the American International Airways on a charter flight from Britain to the United States, was hailed as a "staunch old girl" by the captain of the Bibb for holding together since its forced landing in storm-tossed seas at dawn yesterday.

"She goes down in a blaze of glory. She was a staunch old girl and she held together long enough to save the lives of her 69 persons on board," Capt. Cronk said.

In landing beside the Bibb, which was on weather patrol, the flying-boat suffered severe damage to a wing and its pontoons. The battering of the stormy Atlantic some 360 miles northeast of Newfoundland left the air dreadnought leaking badly.

CRONK, in expressing "relief" that the experience was over, radioed that everybody concerned are "very happy."

He added:

"We are proud of our ship, proud of our service."

Capt. Charles M. Martin, pilot of the stricken craft, together with members of his crew and passengers paid high tribute to the heroism and skill of the Bibb's personnel.

FOUR CULTISTS BACK RIGHT TO JUGGLE SNAKES

HARLAN, Ky., Oct. 15—Four members of the Holiness church of Cumberland, Ky., prepared to defend themselves today in Harlan circuit court on charges of handling snakes during religious services.

The four said they would contend in their appeal from $50 fines assessed in county court that the Kentucky law forbidding the serpent juggling was an abridgment of the constitutional right of religious freedom.

Cumberland city police arrested the four Aug. 15 for handling snakes during the religious services.

The Rev. Odie Shoupe, who was charged with the law violation along with three members of his church—Raymond Hayes, Gladys Sturgill and Sinda May—said the case would be carried to the U. S. supreme court if necessary to win their "religious rights."

SCORES TRAPPED IN EAST RIVER TUNNEL

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—Scores of persons were trapped temporarily under the East River today when a rush-hour IRT subway train from Brooklyn broke down in the Clark street tunnel.

Some of the passengers, many of whom were reported hysterical, got out of the train and walked along the side of the tracks to the Manhattan end of the tunnel. Police ripped up a grating over an emergency exit there to let them out.

thanked Cronk and his men for a "job magnificently done".

With a sudden favorable change in the weather, the rescue operation was affected quickly soon after the first light of dawn illuminated the area, 860 miles northeast of Newfoundland.

Capt. Paul Cronk, of Waban, Mass., reported the end of the harrowing ordeal for the little band of survivors who were prevented from reaching the deck of the Bibb last night.

HIS CHEERING radio message said:

"All passengers and crew aboard. Will advise further as to passengers and crew. Details after careful check."

"Recommend plane be destroyed. Pilot (Charles) Martin agrees."

Forty-four of the passengers were rescued last night and, with the new arrivals aboard the Bibb, were given warm food and ordered to rest so they could forget their nightmarish ordeal.

The Sky Queen is a double-decker veteran of numerous Atlantic crossings and has a capacity of 89.

THE REMAINING passengers and crewmen, who sweated out the night huddled together for warmth, were prepared and eager to start the last phase of the rescue operation when daylight came and heavy winds and mountainous waves subsided.

Rescue operations were interrupted at 8:45 p. m. last night by darkness and unfavorable weather, which increased the danger of ramming the thin-skinned flying boat.

There was a note of haste in the new efforts to transfer the survivors because of another blow expected later in the morning.

The stricken plane had been buffeted by gale winds and 35-foot waves yesterday and through part of the night.

The coast guard reported the Bibb and the Sky Queen, for which a line had been thrown, had drifted 50 miles northeast during the night.

The wind and waves, which had made rescue work precarious last night, had finally come to the aid of the survivors. This was revealed in an early morning radio message from the Bibb which reported tersely: "Rescue conditions considerably brighter." It added:

"Waves have subsided considerably to from six to 12 feet in height. Winds are southwest at 14 miles an hour."

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said Wednesday a search was under way for an unidentified youth who severely beat Tom Mettler, of Ringgold, Monday night near Williamsport.

The sheriff quoted Mettler as saying he was riding on the motorcycle of Lloyd Hettinger, Ringgold, that they were joined by a youth and that when Hettinger halted the motorcycle near Williamsport the youth assaulted Mettler. No reason for the attack was revealed.

WALLACE POPS AGAIN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15—Henry A. Wallace charged today that Secretary of Defense Forrestal and the Army high command are advocating war between the United States and Russia. He said: "Forrestal is the Washington spokesman for the militaristic crowd in Wall Street. Big business is out for American military domination of the world and he is doing his best to bring it about."

C of C Committee To Urge City Acceptance Of Veterans Addition

Four-member Chamber of Commerce committee will attend the city council meeting next Tuesday night and urge passage of the ordinance providing for acceptance by the city of Circleville or a 23-lot war veterans' homesite.

The committee is composed of Tom Gilliland, William Koehseier, Don C. Henkle and John Magill. It was announced Wednesday the committee members will answer any ever made of the multi-billion dollar program.

THE INQUIRY followed in the wake of public hearings Sept. 9 to 12 during which it was brought out that approximately one-half billion dollars in frauds and overpayments were indicated in the general settlement of six billion dollars worth of war contracts after V-E day.

When the data from the armed services has been assembled, the subcommittee will ask Warren's general accounting office to audit those contracts "showing the worst performance."

The group will determine later on the basis of the information disclosed by the initial audits whether to press for a complete audit of the entire wartime program. This would necessitate asking congress for more money for the general accounting office.

Indications are that some of the nation's major aircraft companies will come under the scrutiny of the house investigators. Public hearings probably will be held after the investigation gets underway.

HUNGER ABROAD SEEN AS THREAT TO U. S. POLICY

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15—A Columbia university sociologist warned today that the success of the United States' foreign policy is being obstructed by hunger abroad.

Dr. Edmund De S. Brunner told a meeting of the Ohio Extension Agents association in Columbus that people in poverty-stricken areas are thinking more of where their food is coming from than what is happening to their government.

He asserted: "Hungry people can easily be molded to conform with diplomats' thinking."

questions members of council may desire to ask concerning the homesite west of Court street at the south edge of the city.

Mr. Magill, president of the Chamber of Commerce, named the committee at an emergency meeting of that organization held Tuesday night in the council chamber. Members of council had been invited to attend. Those present included 12 members of the Chamber of Commerce, Councilmen Robert E. Adkins and Boyd Horn, Ed C. Ebert and Fred Boggs representing the Circleville American Legion post, and four World War II veterans who are prospective buyers of lots in the homesite.

It was declared by Chamber of Commerce spokesmen at the session that the lots are to be sold at cost to veterans only and that the organization will conduct the lot sale on a non-profit basis. It was suggested that the city install water and sewer facilities.

Councilmen Horn and Adkins expressed themselves in favor of veterans' housing and also in favor of acceptance of the new addition by the municipality. However, Councilman Adkins asserted that just at the present time the city lacks the money to make improvements to the site.

AT THE Oct. 7 meeting of council the ordinance accepting the homesite was read for the second time and four members—Ray Cook, John Eshelman, George L. Crites and Ray Anderson—voiced opposition to passage of the ordinance. The legislation is scheduled for its third and final reading at the council meeting next Tuesday night.

BEXLEY COMES TO CITY'S AID ON POLIO CASES

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15—The city of Bexley came to the rescue of overcrowded Children's hospital today.

The city council in a unanimous action agreed to make the former Jeffrey home, which has been used by the Bexley recreation department, available to the hospital for use as quarters for student nurses at the Columbus hospital.

Superintendent Robert M. Porter had reported that the nurses' training program had been necessarily curtailed because the hospital was crowded from 30 to 40 per cent above its normal capacity by the heavy influx of infantile paralysis cases.

The report said that 163 patients were being cared for in the 120-bed institution.

The Jeffrey home contains 21 rooms and was given to the city of Bexley in March, 1942, by Robert H. Jeffrey and his wife, Mary Allen.

Five other men who were also indicted Oct. 10 by the grand jury were arraigned Wednesday.

Francis A. Chilcote, 29, Route 1, Laurelville, pleaded guilty on two forged counts and Judge Radcliff announced sentence would be imposed later. Chilcote, who was remanded to jail, was charged in the indictment with passing two worthless checks for $16 each on Sept. 1 at the Given Oil company. Both checks were drawn on the First National bank of Circleville.

OHIO VET HAS $350 HUNG UP ON FALL VOTE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15—The average Ohio veteran will receive a bonus of about $350 if the 300 million dollar bonus proposal before the Ohio voters November 4 is approved.

The American Legion of Ohio estimated that figure today on the basis of war and navy department figures governing length of service. The bonus is to be paid on the basis of $10 for each month's domestic service and $15 for foreign service.

The widows or other survivors of some 17,000 Ohioans who gave their lives for their country can apply for the maximum bonus of $400.

The bonus is to be paid partly by the first million dollars a month to come into the state treasury for the next 15 years, and partly by an additional levy on real estate. In addition, the last legislature provided a "down payment" of 25 millions.

The constitution must be amended because it now forbids any state debt beyond $75,000.

U. S. DECIDES TO STAND FIRM FOR KOREA FREEDOM

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 15—The United States decided today to stand firm on its determination to press for Korean independence in the United Nations and to reject Soviet Russia's demand for a mutual withdrawal of American and Russian troops.

Andrei Vishinsky sharply criticized Secretary of State Marshall for placing the Korean issue before the general assembly. Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov awaits the formal United States reply.

The American delegation, meanwhile, is drafting the proposal it intends to give the UN political and security committee Friday.

Marshall has summoned John

Allison, expert on the Far East in the state department, to New York for preparation of the American resolution.

It is expected to call for general elections and propose the setting up of a provisional Korean government before the withdrawal of occupation troops.

LIBERTY LIGHTS GROWING DIM OVER POLAND

Terroristic Suppression
Typifies Methods Used
By Communists

(Ruthless methods used by Soviet occupational police in Poland to suppress a minority will on the opposition are described in the following dispatch from Kingsbury Smith, European general manager, of International News Service.)

By KINGSBURY SMITH
WARSAW, Oct. 15—An official spokesman of the Polish Peasant party said today an average of 10,000 of its members are being compelled to visit security police stations in Poland every day.

Efforts are being made to persuade these people to desert the Peasant party, whose leader, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, represents the only voice of political freedom still to be heard publicly in Poland.

This attempt to suppress the Peasant party typifies the ruthless methods being used at present by the Soviet puppet Polish government to enforce a Communist dictatorship of the proletariat in the tragic country.

These methods of political terrorism constitute one of the gravest dangers to peace in Poland in the opinion of the majority of people with whom one talks outside government circles.

THE LIGHTS of human liberty are growing dim in Poland and the terroristic suppression of individual freedom is causing many people to believe their only hope is war between East and West.

One worker was asked if he did not realize that war would bring further death and destruction to his country, which lost more than six million people in the last conflict.

"Yes," he replied, "but for many of us, death is preferable to the conditions that exist now, especially if we felt that we were dying in the cause of freedom."

The conditions to which he referred include prisons filled with thousands of people who are being held without trial and in many instances without any charges being lodged against them. They include the terror of a security police force estimated by diplomatic observers to number more than 100 thousand.

EXEMPLIFYING the conditions that are regarded as creating a danger to peace in Poland at present are the methods being used by the government to suppress the right wing of the Peasant party, and particularly to remove Mikolajczyk from the leadership of that party.

This little man is the one leader within the country on whom all hopes of freedom pivot.

It is generally acknowledged outside government circles that Mikolajczyk would win a clear majority in any free elections held in Poland. More than 100 thousand of his followers were arrested during the election campaign early this year.

Ten of the 125 members of the Peasant party's supreme council are now in jail. One of these

Boy Scout News

Regular weekly meeting of Boy Scout troop number 121 was held Tuesday evening in the Recreation center of St. Joseph's Catholic church, West Mound street. Jim Anderson opened the meeting with the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Jack Anderson lead the troop in the Scout oath and law.

Contest were held with the Pine Tree patrol winning the knot tying contest. At the meeting an instruction story was conducted on the first flag. Meeting closed as Robert Dean, Scout master, pronounced the benediction.

The troop members will meet Saturday at 12 o'clock noon at the scout masters' home, South Washington street, for an all night camping trip in Scout Lodge at Gold Cliff. The trip will afford the troop an opportunity to pass, second class hiking requirements and first class camping requirements.

men were arrested only recently and sentenced to five years' imprisonment for allegedly spreading false rumors about conditions in Poland.

NINE witnesses, including members of the security police, testified he was not guilty. He was convicted by a military court on the testimony of one witness who asserted that he overheard the man say the police had intervened in a strike, killing two persons.

A source close to Mikolajczyk said the latter is convinced the government intends eventually to arrest and imprison him.

Nevertheless, he is said to be determined not to resign his leadership of the party until he is removed by force.

He feels he can exert a restraining influence on his followers and prevent them from resorting to civil war in which he feels they would doubtless be annihilated.

$6 A MONTH FOR HOUSE IF MAN IS BRICKLAYER

Some Circleville area man can obtain a five-room dwelling for a rental of $6 a month—provided he is a bricklayer and is willing to take a job in the Columbus area.

It was disclosed Wednesday that this offer recently emanated from the office of Frank J. Collopy, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation at Columbus. So far as ascertained the job is still unfilled.

It seems that a harried employer contacted the Ohio State Employment Service, one of the two major divisions of the BUC, and requested "a bricklayer with experience in the repair of kilns". The employer offered to pay $2 an hour with the added unducement of the house at the low rent figure.

YOUTH AND THE UN

THE Chicago Sun recently announced that it would send 75 high school editors on a short visit to the meetings of the UN general assembly at Lake Success, N. Y. Pictures of some of the fortunate young people vividly portray their interest and enthusiasm.

Many adults remember with great pleasure those experiences of their school days which brought life to the things they were learning. A visit to a nearby museum, an opera, a Shakespeare play, a trip to the city hall, an all day hike to find "specimens" brought greater meaning to all of their studies. They recognize the value of these concrete experiences.

Many more high school students should have the opportunity of a visit to the United Nations in session. Parents who can would do well to take their youngsters to Lake Success if only for a day or two. Organizations of every kind might find it a good idea to finance trips for groups of young people who could not go otherwise. The rewards would be great. Boys and girls who do go find their interest in world citizenship greatly stimulated; they will grow into maturity knowing what some of their adult problems will be.

SO-CALLED UNANIMITY

WHAT COULD be a more transparent deception than the unanimous elections of totalitarian states? 'One hundred million people,' says Louis Fischer, expert on Russia, in his new book, Gandhi and Stalin, "do not agree on anything. They would not agree that telephones are necessary, that bathing is healthy, that bread is good. They would certainly not all vote for Stalin (or Tito or Franco or Peron) unless they were afraid not to."

Whenever it is announced that a nation is unanimously in favor of a certain man or course, be well assured that if truth were told it is far from unanimous.

The movies are making their contribution to food saving. Henceforth meals shown on the screen will not be filmed from real steaks and vegetables, but from wooden imitations. The wooden imitations are as near as many of us come to steak.

Indian summer is so nice a season that a law should be passed forbidding it to be replaced by winter.

* Ex-President Hoover did well to deny his reported statement that Japan would not have attacked the United States without provocation. Had that utterance remained undisclaimed, Hoover's future opinions would probably not have been accorded the respect given many of those in the past.

Why does Summer seem so short, and Winter, with no more days by the calendar, so long-drawn-out?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The most astonishing fact of our national existence is the contradiction between our necessities and the policy of government. For instance, facing the deterioration of our relations with Soviet Russia, the airplane manufacturing industries were permitted to deteriorate. Yet, military experts speak of the next war as primarily in the air. With air bases all over the world, diplomacy made no effort to save them for American use.

Facing the need for improved and increased transportation facilities, agencies of government prevented the railroads from setting up funds during profitable years to maintain efficiencies in lean years and refused to permit the railroads to earn not profits but their way in the post-war general falling off of business. Wages were increased without regard to earnings as though it were normal for the railroads to be in the red. The processes for increasing rates to meet increased costs are so slow as to be of little value in arresting losses.

The costs of operating Class I Railroads—that is, the main lines of the country—have been increased approximately $3,018,000,000 a year as of September 2, 1947, over operating costs for 1939. And obviously in a rising cost market, the costs are bound to increase further. Had the Treasury permitted the railroads to accumulate reserves to meet these necessities, there would be few lines in the red; fewer whose roadbeds ride like corrugated washboards; fewer whose equipment ought to be in the junk shop. It is one thing to advertise modernization; it is quite another to have the money with which to do it. But during the war, a myopic Treasury kept the railroads from pursuing prudent business practices, with the result that they have to meet rehabilitation mostly through current earnings which are actually inadequate for current operations. Why the Treasury pursued so foolhardy a policy is no more difficult to understand than much else the Treasury has done during the past decade. Were this country forced by any circumstance into a war, its main transportation agency, the railroad, which should be absolutely shipshape by now, might prove dangerously inadequate.

In a statement before the Interstate Commerce Commission, Walter S. Franklin, Vice-President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, pointed to a fact which is tremendously important in our present situation:

"In addition to the deferred maintenance that has accumulated through the war period, attention should be called to the fact that the Eastern roads are not now in a position to meet a national emergency in the way they did at the outbreak of World War II. As an example, the Pennsylvania Railroad, with deferred maintenance of over $100 million in track structure and equipment and inadequate earnings for two years or more, could not spend, in addition to its present commitments, say $200 million as it did during the last war to properly provide for the needed facilities of all kinds."

"At times," says the United States Chamber of Commerce, "selective downward adjustment of both prices and wages may be desirable." But very few people want to operate on that basis.

Penicillin in a New Form Aids Acute Sinus Infection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

TO people who read headlines, penicillin may seem an old story, but to the exact and precise doctor, it is one which deepens in interest with each new extension of this wonder drug's usefulness.

When penicillin was first introduced, nobody thought it would have any effect when applied locally to the tissues. Since then, however, research has shown that penicillin can be taken into the body through the lungs and that when administered in this way as an aerosol it has great power to heal infections.

Breatheable Form

By aerosol is meant something which can be breathed. To get penicillin into a breatheable form, special apparatus is required to mix it with oxygen. When sprayed out as a fine mist, this mixture can travel along the whole respiratory tract and penetrate to the farthest and thinnest tubes of the lungs.

Drs. Rodolfo Godinez and Raul Infante of Cuba, who have used penicillin in this way, report excellent results in a large variety of respiratory infections.

The aerosol penicillin treatment is of value in infections of the respiratory tract such as the throat and lungs due to germs which are sensitive to penicillin. This treatment seems to be superior to the use of penicillin by injection because it is less painful and in addition the oxygen has some benefit in the lung infections. The oxygen also has a local, beneficial effect on the lining membranes of the affected tissues.

Drs. Godinez and Infante have employed the treatment in acute infections of the sinuses, which are air spaces connected with the nose. Three daily treatments were employed, after which treatment the patient was advised to gargle with some mild solution in order to prevent local irritation of the throat.

Acute Sinus Infection

In forty cases of acute sinus infection, an average of twelve treatments were employed. In chronic sinus infection, it was felt that after twelve treatments no improvement occurs, the use of the aerosol penicillin should be stopped.

Acute infections of the throat, the larynx or voice-box, and the windpipe, also seem to respond satisfactorily to the aerosol penicillin. Chronic infections are not benefited to as great an extent as are acute infections.

However, both acute and chronic bronchitis or inflammation of the tubes in the lungs, were helped with the aerosol penicillin method of treatment. It was found that in the acute infections, the temperature tended to become normal after the first few treatments, coughing became less severe, and the symptoms improved.

The treatment with aerosol penicillin is easily carried out and quickly brings improvement in respiratory infections.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. M.: What causes swelling of the feet and legs?

Answer: Swelling of the feet usually comes from heart disease, kidney disease, some trouble with the ligaments in the feet, or a disturbance of the circulation in the legs. Before treatment can be suggested, the cause of the trouble must be found.

Until Love Happens

MARGARET NICHOLS

SYNOPSIS
Worlds separate young Alison Van Dyke and Teresa, her glamorous half-sister. The latter, ambitious and domineering, was one of Washington's most successful interior decorators. The wedding reception was held at the home of Teresa's wealthy friend, kindly Edna Castine. It was a gala affair, and Edna was disappointed because Teresa had chosen Sam in preference to her beloved brother Philip, she managed to conceal it.

CHAPTER FIVE

AGAIN IN October four years later a taxi stopped before Teresa's house in Georgetown and Alison stepped out. Despite the heavy bag she lingered on the sidewalk a few minutes and glanced about her. The rather small but highly desirable and sought-after houses in this old section of Washington, with their correctly kept lawns still green, were so strange to her she was filled with nostalgia for the big old house in Vermont. But because that house had been sold three weeks ago and strangers had occupied it since yesterday, she tried to tell herself it was absurd to think of it any longer as her home. The only home she had was the one before which she was standing, one she had never seen before, the house where Teresa lived with Suzy, her three-year-old daughter, and a maid and Suzy's nurse. There was nothing else to do now except go in and make herself a member of that household.

Under the burden of the heavy bag that contained all her earthly possessions she walked up the steps, her free hand grasping the iron railing. But she did not go in at once. It was as though she had to cling to this last moment before going into Teresa's house, clinging to it so that she would remember how she felt and even how she looked in an uncertain time to come.

How did she feel? A little frightened at the newness of it all, but flattered that Teresa wanted her to come and live with her and share her enviable position in the capital; still sorrowing from her mother's death ten weeks ago, despite Kitty's telling her she wanted her to feel relieved and not to wear black; still somewhat chagrined that Teresa had not come to the funeral (she had been away on a decorating job in North Carolina); despite the kindness of Teresa.

It was beautiful, of course. New things blending with old things. The two pale green love seats faced one another before the fireplace and the gray rug was velvet under her feet. Heavy yellow silk curtains closed out the harshness of the sun, but permitted enough sunlight so that the room had a warm golden glow.

As the little French clock softly chimed the hour of four, Sam arose to meet her. "Why, Alison, you're all grown up."

sa's long letter that had included such a detailed explanation of what Alison should do that it was necessary only for Alison to read the letter when she felt the need of advice; and immensely hopeful for the future that lay beyond this clean white door with the shiny brass knockers.

She had become a young woman who could wear anything because people who were interested in her never remembered what she wore. Nor could they adequately describe her, for there was a quality in her face not easily defined. You might call it thoughtfulness or sensitivity or a quiet alertness. Her hair was still ash-blond, soft and fine, her eyes smoky gray. She wore a vivid lipstick now. And while she looked no more than her 20 years, there was something adult about her, a quiet poise and an early wisdom.

Perhaps she would always remember that on this afternoon she was wearing a dark red tweed suit and a small brimmed hat made of the same material as the suit and low-heeled black suede sandals when she lifted her hand to the knocker of Teresa's house.

In no time at all a stout colored maid opened the door and took her bag almost before Alison succeeded in telling her who she was.

She wondered why the maid whispered when she said, "Mr. Tarrant is in the living room." Sam! Alison felt a galvanic shock. . . . Sam in the living room. Sam, whom Teresa had divorced when Suzy was a baby. The only explanation Alison and Kitty had had was that fragment Teresa had written, "Sam and I are completely incompatible and I am getting a divorce. Naturally Suzy stays with me. It is all so painful to me that I don't ever wish to discuss it." Now Sam was in the living room.

Though she had been anticipating the interior of Teresa's house, the news of Sam's being here so astonished her that she glanced about only superficially as she left the hall with the brightly colored wallpaper and entered the living room.

It was beautiful, of course. New things blending with old things. The two pale green love seats faced one another before the fireplace and the gray rug was velvet under her feet. Heavy yellow silk curtains closed out the harshness of the sun, but permitted enough sunlight so that the room had a warm golden glow.

As the little French clock softly chimed the hour of four, Sam arose to meet her.

"Why, Alison, you're all grown up."

"Hello, Sam."

He took her hand and held it and looked into her face.

"How long has it been? But hold it. Don't tell me. There was a war between. But it has been a long time."

I have not seen you, she thought, since the night you and Teresa were married. But in the years between, the war years, you left something with me that remained alive, Sam. . . . that confused enchantment whenever I thought of you and wondered where you were and what had happened to you.

"Won't you sit down?" he asked. "Because until you do, I can't."

They laughed together and when they were facing one another across the low table between the love seats, he asked, "How is your mother?"

"She died ten weeks ago." His chin came up quickly. "I'm sorry. I liked her very much. I always wanted to know her better."

When he gave her a long, penetrating, thoughtful glance she had the opportunity to see him quite clearly. He was still tall and broad-shouldered, with a reserved, ascetic face. His black hair still grew from a peak in the middle of his forehead and his eyes were still dark and warm and bright. She had not known before that he had a fine humorous mouth. Yet like all of the young men of his time he looked older when you looked directly into his eyes and there was greater tautness in the muscles of his face. Four years ago she had thought him handsome, most masculine person she had ever known. That impression, she thought now, still remained.

Were he and Teresa in love again? It would be wonderful, she supposed, if they would remarry. Four years ago she had thought that the color of Teresa would die all of a man's days and all of his nights.

"So you've come to visit Teresa," he said.

Alison shook her head. "No, I've come to stay. I'm going to live with Teresa. I'm going to work."

"With Teresa?"

"Oh, I couldn't. I don't know anything about her work. I've had two years of college." Accomplished by Kitty's selling the silver and the few good pieces of antique furniture and by convincing the local jeweler that her old pieces of jewelry were worth more than they actually were. "I'll probably take a business course first."

"I wish you luck."

Their eyes met almost intimately.

"Thanks."

Unification and the GI; He Faces Many Changes

Taft's Hat in Nov. 1? Link With Stassen Seen

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Unification of the armed forces has had such top-level effects as creation of the post of defense secretary, autonomy for the Air Force, and reduction of the secretaries of the Army and Navy to sub-cabinet rank, but it will be some time before the average serviceman feels the results of the merger.

First change probably will be the new insignia for Air Force personnel but pay, allowances, travel expense and the like are tied to separate laws and will not be altered.

The Air Force has plans for some radical changes, including substitution of a special blue uniform for the present OD or khaki, and the designation of enlisted men by such titles as "air crewman" instead of the traditional private, corporal or sergeant.

It may be a long time, however, before the uniform change can be brought about. Aware that the big argument for unification was economy Defense Secretary James Forrestal is expected to be tight-fisted about a new garb that would cost the taxpayers plenty of money.

In fact, Forrestal favors dressing the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force in khaki during the summer months, scrapping the Navy gray uniforms as soon as they wear out and allowing "blues" only in winter.

Observers expect that a combined Army-Air Force appropriation bill will be presented to Congress for the 1948-49 fiscal year, since administration of the two branches probably can't be separated inside the next 18 months, at the earliest.

● TAFT'S DECISION—Look for Ohio's Senator Robert Taft to announce that he will be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination by Nov. 1.

Also look for the development of at least near-close relations between Taft and Harold E. Stassen, at the moment the only avowed GOP candidate.

Political observers, certain that Taft has decided definitely to "take the plunge," are watching the Stassen angle carefully. They believe it is possible that Taft may seek Stassen as his running mate.

The turn of events, of course, depends on Taft getting the call over New York's Gov. Tom Dewey Not to be forgotten is the possibility of a Taft-Dewey stalemate resulting in a draft for Gen. Dwight D. (Ike) Eisenhower to head the ticket.

Taft reportedly has more than an open mind about Stassen, who would go far to save the feelings of labor, currently the self-proclaimed enemy of the Ohioan in the political arena.

Stassen and Taft have a personal liking and respect for each other although they disagree on many things. There also is a possibility that Stassen might be persuaded to run with Eisenhower if the general were "drafted."

The ex-Minnesota governor and World War II naval officer is very much in the political wind as a second place hopeful on the GOP ticket if anyone is nominated but Dewey, who wishes no part of Stassen.

● SENATOR WHITE'S FUTURE—Top-flight GOP senators are pondering a delicate problem—the slight deafness of Majority Leader Wallace H. White, Jr. (R), Maine, and whether he would be offended if they suggest that he get a hearing device. The senator's hearing is good enough in ordinary conversation, but in fast parliamentary maneuvering, with voices all over the acoustically-poor Senate chamber, colleagues say he is handicapped for his job.

During the last session of Congress, other leaders sometimes stepped abruptly into floor developments and took things over, and it is an open secret that White was unhappy about such incidents.

If the GOP leadership wanted to ease White out, his slight deafness could be given as a pretext. However, they want him to stay, both because he is a steady cool and able tactician on the floor, and because if he stepped out it would touch off a bitter intra-party fight.

In the meantime, they are wondering whether they dare suggest a hearing aid.

Freak 100 Mile Hurricane Rips Savannah

LOUD SPEAKERS WAKE CITY, GIVE FIRST WARNING

Widespread Damage Left In Wake Of Storm—Guard Patrols Streets

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 15—Freak hurricane winds, estimated at a velocity of 100 miles an hour, struck an unprepared Savannah today, leaving widespread wreckage in its wake.

The storm, which was moving northward up the Atlantic coast, made a sudden turn toward the west, sliced into the historic Georgia coastal city with little warning, and howled inland across the state.

No injuries were reported immediately.

Tibb island, lying off Savannah, was successfully evacuated before the storm hit about 7 a. m.

Plate glass windows of stores and window glass in homes was broken. There was insufficient warning to board them.

NATIONAL guardsmen were called out to patrol the streets against looting.

Communications were almost completely wiped out in the city. Cars with loud speakers gave sleeping Savannah citizens their first warning that the storm had turned inland.

Electricity and water went out in most parts of the city. Stores opened, however, in spite of the strong winds in the predawn hours. Their stocks of candles and bread were almost sold out as residents stocked up in last-minute preparation for the assault of the elements.

The last serious hurricane to strike Savannah was Aug. 11, 1940, when residents went three days without food stocks, lights or adequate drinking water.

Most widespread damage was expected in a newly-developed area southeast of Savannah. It is the lowest area of town. Water rose as high as six feet there.

High winds extended 150 miles inland.

WHITE HOUSE CANCELS ALL STATE DINNERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—The White House today cancelled all of its state dinners for the season "because of the urgent necessity for the conservation of food."

The announcement was made by Mrs. James M. Helm, White House social secretary.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

The CIO convention in Boston and the AFL convention in San Francisco sent their best wishes to each other and their worst to Taft and Hartley.

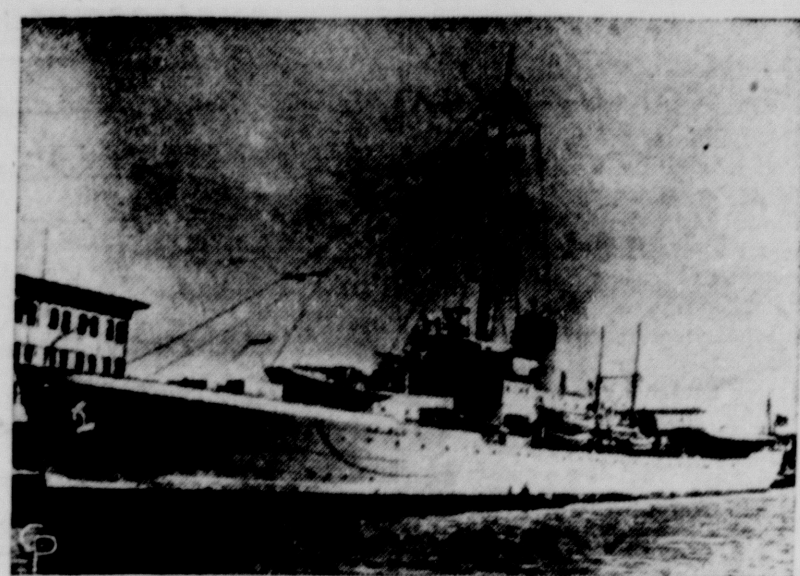

Meanwhile "I Like Ike" campaign buttons have begun to appear. . . I hear he will demand a fair trial.

The road of vanquished and victor is equally difficult. Nothing at the end but the gallows in Nuremberg or the hot seat in Washington.

But associates of Dewey say a Taft-Stassen combine cannot stop him. . . they're even certain he can be started again.

Since Stassen was seen speaking civilly to Taft the odds on his nomination have shifted. . . If he ever gets talking to Hoover he's through.

But I hear Hoover wired Taft, "when you think you're being abused come over and look at my scrapbook."

Coast Guard Cutter Bibb aided plane

Site of flying boat's crash landing

FORCED DOWN in mid-Atlantic by gas-consuming headwinds, a Boeing flying boat of American International Airlines landed safely and transferred its 69 passengers and crewmen to the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Bibb, on weather-station duty three miles away. Plane was en route from Ireland to Newfoundland.

"Plutonium" Not a Hot Dog At All—On Way Back To Ship and Ham Bones

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—Plutonium, the Bikini dog suspected of radioactivity, has a clean bill of health and is on her way back today to ship's cook John Conoforo, of Bremerton, Wash., and his ham bones.

The dog, of uncertain ancestry, was discovered on Bikini island by the survey party from the U. S. S. Chilton making a "year after" check on the effects of the atom bombardment of the atoll.

When first sighted, Plutonium was coy and shy of sailors, but Donofrio and Seabees Milton Wise of New York and Red Christofano of Allentown, Pa., rigged up a "figure four" trap, baited it with a ham bone, and Plutonium was theirs.

JOHN L. VOTED OUT OF HIGH AFL COMMAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15—The San Francisco convention of the American Federation of Labor tackled Hollywood's inter-union warfare today after handing John L. Lewis one of the most resounding rebuffs of his tempestuous career.

Yesterday's debate centering around Lewis and his refusal to sign a non-Communist affidavit under a provision of the Taft-Hartley law brought the convention to its peak of tension. The veteran mine union leader thundered out a demand that the AFL boycott the National Labor Board, but the convention defeated him by a standing vote of more than ten to one.

By that tally, far more than the required two-thirds majority—the delegates voted to abolish the federation's 13 vice presidencies. And by the same token they voted "odd John L." out of the AFL's high command.

XAVIER CUGAT TO WED ACTRESS LORRAINE ALLEN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15—Bandleader Xavier Cugat announced today that he will wed Hollywood actress Lorraine Allen in Philadelphia this afternoon.

The marriage will be the second for both Miss Allen and the 47-year-old rumba king.

BREWING SLASH DEMANDED BY TRUMAN BOARD

Smaller Loaves Of Bread Considered As Means Of Grain Saving

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—President Truman's food conservation committee today demanded a slash in beer production and considered reducing the size of bread loaves to speed up its grain-saving drive.

Chairman Charles Luckman plans a series of conferences during the next few days with representatives of the brewing and baking industries to line up the nation's bakers and beer-makers behind his program.

Luckman told a news conference that he definitely believes that beer production must be reduced to save grain and he revealed that the question of smaller loaves of bread has been under discussion.

The food committee chairman, obviously pleased by what he considered favorable public response to his campaign, also promised the nation that the food-saving drive will be eased when conservation goals are met.

HE DECLARED that when 100 million bushels of grain, which President Truman maintains is needed for foreign relief, have been saved his committee will relax the restrictions urged on the nation.

But, Luckman said that "no changes are contemplated" in the conservation program at the present time. He specifically denied that elimination of poultryless days is being considered.

The food-saving drive, meanwhile, moved well into its second week with reports of improved public observances of "meatless Tuesday" and committee officials confident that their "eggless and poultryless Thursday" will get more support.

THE FOOD committee also announced that it has no objections to the American people eating meat by-products such as liver, kidneys, brains, sweetbreads, pigs feet, tripe, oxtail and tongue on meatless Tuesdays.

A N N O U N C E M E N T NEARS ON TAFT A N N O U N C E M E N T

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15—A formal announcement as to when and where he will announce his candidacy for the presidency—any other course generally is ruled out of the question—is expected tomorrow by U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft.

The Cincinnati Republican, who previously has said only that he will announce his decision "about October 24," comes to Columbus late today or tomorrow for the Fall meeting of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's organizations.

At tomorrow evening's banquet session he is to share the speaker's rostrum with former Minnesota Governor Harold E. Stassen, an avowed candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

The Ohio Republican organization already has labeled Taft as its favorite son candidate as soon as he formally accepts that designation. Under Ohio law he may not be a "favorite son" without his formal, written consent.

MARSHALL PLAN GAINS LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 15—U. S. Secretary of State Marshall's proposal for a year-round "Little Assembly" headed into sharp debate in the United Nations today, but there were forecasts it would win an eventual majority vote. China led the way among the Big Five powers in supporting the U. S. move.

GAYLA BLASDEL of Los Angeles and her once-blind pet, Liebchen, are all eyes as story of the dog's successful cataract operation by Eye Specialist Dr. H. Blasdel is revealed.

Soviet Warned It Will Not Be Permitted To Veto Peace On Earth

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 15—The Danish communist newspaper Land of Folk today referred to Former Secretary of State James Byrnes' memoirs as "fantastic warplans by Byrnes against the Soviet". The paper also said: "America's former foreign minister and Truman's friend beats all records in warmongering".

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—James F. Byrnes, former secretary of state, bluntly warned the leaders of Soviet Russia today that as Hitler learned, so must they: "the world is not going to permit one nation to veto peace on earth."

Byrnes' admonition to the rulers of Russia is one of the highlights of his book, "Speaking Frankly", a candid account of his efforts as war mobilization director and as a peacemaking secretary of state.

The story tells of secret "Big Three" deals at Yalta; of Byrnes' many encounters with the stubborn Soviet foreign minister, V. M. Molotov; of the intra-cabinet battle which resulted in resignation of Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce.

SHOWDOWN WITH REDS APPEARS NEAR IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Oct. 15—Police detachments were stationed at Havana bus and trolley car stations today to prevent walk outs of transport workers in a general strike scheduled today.

Radio station "Mil Diez," once owned by the Communists and now operated by the popular Socialist party, was shut down by the government and a showdown with the Communists appeared in the making.

It was reported orders have gone out to arrest leaders of unions participating in the strike.

Police in Havana and some troop units were held in readiness for emergency action.

Minister of Labor Carlos Prió Socarras has warned the strike "will not be tolerated."

Benito Herrera, chief of the secret police, labeled the strike call a "political maneuver."

MOVIE EXTRA PONDERS EXTRA WIVES IN JAIL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15—"Dancing Daddy" O'Neill, a waltz-me-around former movie extra of 51 years, pondered in jail today the misfortune of being married to four women at the same time.

Superior Judge Edward R. Brand dismissed a fourth bigamy count against the "dance hall Romeo" in finding him guilty of three bigamy charges.

Solons Hunt War Planes Fraud, Waste

Procurement Program Put Under Investigation By Committee

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—A congressional committee launched an investigation today into the giant wartime aircraft procurement program in search of fraud and waste.

Rep. George H. Bender (R) Ohio, chairman of a house executive expenditures subcommittee, requested Secretary of Defense Forrestal to furnish his five-member group with key data on all major aircraft programs entered into during the war by the armed services.

An estimated forty-five billion dollars was spent on the aircraft program in the largest expenditure entailed during the war.

A committee spokesman declared:

"WHILE the aircraft program as a whole was highly successful, our preliminary evidence already shows millions of dollars were wasted. The committee has decided to probe the extent, the character and the cause of such waste and to discover whether any frauds existed in the handling of the aircraft procurement program."

In another step taken, Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren is being asked to audit the wartime contracts. Bender is expected to confer with Warren later this month on the details.

MARSHALL MAY PRESENT NEW MAJOR POLICY

BOSTON, Oct. 15—Secretary of State Marshall's address before the national CIO convention this afternoon overshadows the anticipated fight between right and left wing factions over adoption of a foreign policy resolution.

Marshall, who announced his plan to aid the starving and hungry in Europe at the Harvard commencement last June, is expected to make another major policy declaration in Boston today.

His last-minute acceptance of an invitation to address the CIO came shortly before CIO leaders disclosed that the resolutions committee had adopted a compromise plan backing the Marshall plan.

The resolution expected to provide fireworks on the convention floor, did not mention the plan by name, however.

(The rival AFL convention in San Francisco adopted the Marshall plan and lashed Russian efforts "to provoke economic chaos.")

CUBAN PRESIDENT TO FACE TREASON CHARGES

HAVANA, Oct. 15—The Cuban supreme court decided today to forward to the senate charges of treason against President Grau San Martín.

The charges were made by Feliciano Maderna, one of the leaders of the unsuccessful expeditionary force that attempted to invade the Dominican republic.

Testifying before an investigating magistrate, Maderna charged that the President was one of the leaders and organizers of the expedition.

The Cuban constitution provides that when the president commits a crime endangering the peace of the state, he shall be tried by the senate sitting as a tribunal.

69 OCCUPANTS OF SKY QUEEN SAFE ON CUTTER

Small Boat And Liferaft Used In Unparalleled Transfer At Sea

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—The U. S. Coast guard cutter Bibb completed the epic mid-Atlantic rescue of 69 seaskick occupants of the Bermuda Sky Queen today and prepared to sink the derelict flying-boat with gunfire.

Twenty-five passengers and crewmen were removed this morning from the bobbing four-motored plane to complete a saga unparalleled in annals of the sea.

The rescue of the largest number of paying passengers ever to set out to fly the Atlantic was affected by small boat and liferaft without casualties, except for one minor laceration and bruises to a crewman.

THE HUGE Boeing, operated by the American International Airways on a charter flight from Britain to the United States, was hailed as a "staunch old girl" by the captain of the Bibb for holding together since its forced landing in storm-tossed seas at dawn yesterday.

"She goes down in a blaze of glory. She was a staunch old girl and she held together long enough to save the lives of her 69 persons on board," Capt. Cronk said.

In landing beside the Bibb, which was on weather patrol, the flying-boat suffered severe damage to a wing and its pontoons. The battering of the stormy Atlantic some 360 miles northeast of Newfoundland left the air dreadnaught leaking badly.

CRONK, in expressing "relief" that the experience was over, radioed that everybody concerned are "very happy."

He added:

"We are proud of our ship, proud of our service."

Capt. Charles M. Martin, pilot of the stricken craft, together with members of his crew and passengers paid high tribute to the heroism and skill of the Bibb's personnel.

FOUR CULTISTS BACK RIGHT TO JUGGLE SNAKES

HARLAN, Ky., Oct. 15—Four members of the Holiness church of Cumberland, Ky., prepared to defend themselves today in Harlan circuit court on charges of handling snakes during religious services.

The four said they would contend in their appeal from $50 fines assessed in county court that the Kentucky law forbidding the serpent juggling was an abridgment of the constitutional right of religious freedom.

Cumberland city police arrested the four Aug. 15 for handling snakes during the religious services.

The Rev. Odie Shoupe, who was charged with the law violation along with three members of his church—Raymond Hayes, Gladys Sturgill and Sinda May—said the case would be carried to the U. S. supreme court if necessary to win their "religious rights."

SCORES TRAPPED IN EAST RIVER TUNNEL

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—Scores of persons were trapped temporarily under the East River today when a rush-hour IRT subway train from Brooklyn broke down in the Clark street tunnel.

Some of the passengers, many of whom were reported hysterical, got out of the train and walked along the side of the tracks to the Manhattan end of the tunnel. Police ripped up a grating over an emergency exit there to let them out.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablepoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

thanked Cronk and his men for a "job magnificently done".

With a sudden favorable change in the weather, the rescue operation was affected quickly soon after the first light of dawn illuminated the area, 860 miles northeast of Newfoundland.

Capt. Paul Cronk, of Waban, Mass., reported the end of the harrowing ordeal for the little band of survivors who were prevented from reaching the deck of the Bibb last night.

HIS CHEERING radio message said: "All passengers and crew aboard. Will advise further as to passengers and crew. Details after careful check."

Recommend plane be destroyed. Pilot (Charles) Martin agrees.

Forty-four of the passengers were rescued last night and, with the new arrivals aboard the Bibb, were given warm food and ordered to rest so they could forget their nightmarish ordeal.

The Sky Queen is a double-decker veteran of numerous Atlantic crossings and has a capacity of 89.

THE REMAINING passengers and crewmen, who sweated out the night huddled together for warmth, were prepared and eager to start the last phase of the rescue operation when daylight came and heavy winds and mountainous waves subsided.

Rescue operations were interrupted at 8:45 p. m. last night by darkness and unfavorable weather, which increased the danger of ramming the thin-skinned flying boat.

There was a note of haste in the new efforts to transfer the survivors because of another blow expected later in the morning.

The stricken plane had been buffeted by gale winds and 35-foot waves yesterday and through part of the night.

The coast guard reported the Bibb and the Sky Queen, two which a line had been thrown, had drifted 50 miles northeast during the night.

The wind and waves, which had made rescue work precarious last night, had finally come to the aid of the survivors. This was revealed in an early morning radio message from the Bibb which reported tersely: "Rescue conditions considerably brighter." It added:

"Waves have subsided considerably to from six to 12 feet in height. Winds are southwest at 14 miles an hour."

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said Wednesday a search was under way for an unidentified youth who severely beat Tom Mettler, of Ringgold, Monday night near Williamsport.

The sheriff quoted Mettler as saying he was riding on the motorcycle of Lloyd Hettinger, Ringgold, that they were joined by a youth and that when Hettinger halted the motorcycle near Williamsport the youth assaulted Mettler. No reason for the attack was revealed.

C of C Committee To Urge City Acceptance Of Veterans Addition

Four-member Chamber of Commerce committee will attend the city council meeting next Tuesday night and urge passage of the ordinance providing for acceptance by the city of Circleville of a 23-lot war veterans' homesite.

The committee is composed of Tom Gilliland, William Kochheiser, Don C. Henkle and John Magill. It was announced Wednesday the committee members will answer any ever made of the multi-billion dollar program.

THE INQUIRY followed in the wake of public hearings Sept. 9 to 12 during which it was brought out that approximately one-half billion dollars in frauds and overpayments were indicated in the general settlement of six billion dollars worth of war contracts after V-E day.

When the data from the armed services has been assembled, the subcommittee will ask Warren's general accounting office to audit those contracts "showing the worst performance."

The group will determine later on the basis of the information disclosed by the initial audits whether to press for a complete audit of the entire wartime program. This would necessitate asking congress for more money for the general accounting office.

Indications are that some of the nation's major aircraft companies will come under the scrutiny of the house investigators. Public hearings probably will be held after the investigation gets underway.

HUNGER ABROAD SEEN AS THREAT TO U. S. POLICY

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15—A Columbia university sociologist warned today that the success of the United States' foreign policy is being obstructed by hunger abroad.

Dr. Edmund De S. Brunner told a meeting of the Ohio Extension Agents association in Columbus that people in poverty-stricken areas are thinking more of where their food is coming from than what is happening to their government.

He asserted: "Hungry people can easily be molded to conform with diplomats' thinking."

The Columbia professor declared that Russia has the population of northern Korea well-organized and is prepared to take over that country.

In Custody Fight

questions members of council may desire to ask concerning the homesite west of Court street at the south edge of the city.

Mr. Magill, president of the Chamber of Commerce, named the committee at an emergency meeting of that organization held Tuesday night in the council chamber. Members of council had been invited to attend. Those present included 12 members of the Chamber of Commerce, Councilmen Robert E. Adkins and Boyd Horn, Ed C. Ebert and Fred Boggs representing the Circleville American Legion post, and four World War II veterans who are prospective buyers of lots in the homesite.

It was declared by Chamber of Commerce spokesmen at the session that the lots are to be sold at cost to veterans only and that the organization will conduct the lot sale on a non-profit basis. It was suggested that the city install water and sewer facilities.

Councilmen Horn and Adkins expressed themselves in favor of veterans' housing and also in favor of acceptance of the new addition by the municipality. However, Councilman Adkins asserted that just at the present time the city lacks the money to make improvements to the site.

AT THE Oct. 7 meeting of council the ordinance accepting the homesite was read for the second time and four members—Ray Cook, John Eshelman, George L. Crites and Ray Anderson—voiced opposition to passage of the ordinance. The legislation is scheduled for its third and final reading at the council meeting next Tuesday night.

BEXLEY COMES TO CITY'S AID ON POLIO CASES

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16—The city of Bexley came to the rescue of overcrowded Children's hospital today.

The city council in a unanimous action agreed to make the former Jeffrey home, which has been used by the Bexley recreation department, available to the hospital for use as quarters for student nurses at the Columbus hospital.

Superintendent Robert M. Porter had reported that the nurses' training program had been necessarily curtailed because the hospital was crowded from 30 to 40 per cent above its normal capacity by the heavy influx of infantile paralysis cases.

The report said that 168 patients were being cared for in the 120-bed institution.

The Jeffrey home contains 21 rooms and was given to the city of Bexley in March, 1942, by Robert H. Jeffrey and his wife, Mary Allen.

SIX MONTH TERM DECREED FOR SWALBAUGH

Elmer Swalbaugh, 23, Ashville, was sentenced to six months in the Pickaway county jail after he had pleaded guilty before Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff, Wednesday morning, on an indictment charging statutory rape of a 14-year-old Ashville girl Sept. 18.

Five other men who were also indicted Oct. 10 by the grand jury were arraigned Wednesday.

Francis A. Chilcote, 29, Route 1, Laurelville, pleaded guilty on two forgery counts and Judge Radcliff announced sentence would be imposed later. Chilcote, who was remanded to jail, was charged in the indictment with passing two worthless checks for $16 each on Sept. 1 at the Given Oil company. Both checks were drawn on the First National bank of Circleville.

Robert J. Nicholson, 29, Route 2, Williamsport, pleaded not guilty of drawing a check with insufficient funds. He is accused of having cashed a worthless $20 check Aug. 14 at the W. T. Grant company store in Circleville. The check was drawn on the Farmers National bank of Williamsport. Nicholson's bond was fixed at $500.

John Alkire, 53, Mt. Sterling, pleaded not guilty of issuing a check with insufficient funds. His bond was set at $500. Alkire is charged with passing a fraudulent $5 check in a downtown tavern in Circleville on July 9. The check was drawn on a Washington C. H. bank.

Alfred Smith, 26, indicted on a charge of failure to support four minor children, entered a not guilty plea, and his bond was fixed at $500.

Lee Holbrook, former Circleville policeman, pleaded innocent on an indictment charging him with non-support of two minor children. His bond was fixed at $500.

the President of the United States and his trusted subordinates.

This was Mr. Roosevelt's answer to Stalin's charge that American military leaders had entered into an agreement with German generals for an easy advance of U. S. forces, in return for which Germany was to be given easier peace terms.

Advocating an early peace treaty with Germany, Byrnes considers the possibility of United Nations action to force Russia to withdraw from the conquered country. He adds:

"I hope, believe, and pray that the leaders of the Soviet Union will never force us to this course of last resort. But they must learn what Hitler learned—that the world is not going to permit one nation to veto peace on earth."

Although Byrnes attended the Yalta conference, he states that not until many weeks later, after he had become secretary of state, did he learn of the top secret decision in which it was agreed that in return for Soviet participation in the war against Japan, Russia would be given the Kurile Islands.

HE DEMANDS American retention of atomic superiority, reasoning:

"It would be unfortunate if hostile governments possessed atomic bombs. But, it would be even more unfortunate if we threw our bombs away, gave our information to an international organization with inadequate power to exercise effective control, and thus enabled another government to manufacture bombs without our knowledge far sooner than otherwise would have been possible."

Byrnes declares that a "major blunder" on Molotov's part was responsible for Hitler's decision to attack Russia. This, he said, was Molotov's insistence, in 1940, that German troops be withdrawn from Finland and the protest against Germany's "guarantee" of the Romanian border.

He asserts that it is Molotov, not Stalin, who is responsible for the failure of the United States and the Soviet Union to agree on German peace terms.

OHIO VET HAS $350 HUNG UP ON FALL VOTE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15—The average Ohio veteran will receive a bonus of about $350 if the 300 million dollar bonus proposal before the Ohio voters November 4 is approved.

The American Legion of Ohio estimated that figure today on the basis of war and navy department figures governing length of service. The bonus is to be paid on the basis of $10 for each month's domestic service and $15 for foreign service.

The widows or other survivors of some 17,000 Ohioans who gave their lives for their country can apply for the maximum bonus of $400.

The bonus is to be paid partly by the first million dollars a month to come into the state treasury for the next 15 years, and partly by an additional levy on real estate. In addition, the last legislature provided a "down payment" of 25 millions.

The constitution must be amended because it now forbids any state debt beyond $75,000.

BREAD PRICES RISE

U. S. DECIDES TO STAND FIRM FOR KOREA FREEDOM

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 15—The United States decided today to stand firm on its determination to press for Korean independence in the United Nations and to reject Soviet Russia's demand for a mutual withdrawal of American and Russian troops.

Andrei Vishinsky sharply criticized Secretary of State Marshall for placing the Korean issue before the general assembly. Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov awaits the formal United States reply.

The American delegation, meanwhile, is drafting the proposal it intends to give the UN political and security committee Friday.

Marshall has summoned John

Allison, expert on the Far East in the state department, to New York for preparation of the American resolution.

It is expected to call for general elections and propose the setting up of a provisional Korean government before the withdrawal of occupation troops.

CRUCIAL GAME TO BE PLAYED FRIDAY NIGHT

Tigers Plagued By Injuries As Hurricane Contest Nears; Outlook Dark

Circleville high school's scrappy Tigers were busy preparing for Friday night's crucial contest with the Wilmington Hurricane on the latter's gridiron.

All was not rosy in the Tiger camp. Friday night's grueling contest with a rough and rugged Trojan team from Newcomers-town has left the Red and Black squad suffering from various aches and bruises.

Definitely out of action Friday night and possibly for the rest of the season is Bob Elsea, senior tackle. Bob suffered a cracked bone in his left forearm.

Other boys who had been counted on to see plenty of action, namely, Dick Stein and Ronnie Hennis may not be able to play. Dick has a kidney injury and Ronnie a shoulder separation.

THE LOSS of these two boys will weaken the end and guard positions. Stein is an end, Hennis a guard. Jerry Mayberry who has been out with a knee injury returned to the squad Monday and may be ready to go Friday. Another injury that has caused concern is that of Dean Smallwood, varsity end. Dean was limping badly after his injury in Friday night's battle. It is not known whether he will be in condition to start against the Hurricane come Friday. He is suffering from an ouchy ankle and bruised knee.

Adding to the woes of the coaching staff and squad is the report on the Hurricane eleven.

Wilmington is leading the SCO league at the present time with victories over Washington C. H., Greenfield and Hillsboro. The Hurricane attack is built on speed and passing, much the same as the Tigers.

THE MEN to bear watching in the Wilmington backfield are Cleo Hamilton, dusky speedster, who runs from a halfback post and Adams, who runs his team from the quarterback spot. He is better than average as a passer and with Hamilton on the receiving end of his tosses combine to form a deadly combination. Also coming in for his share of pass receiving is Cartwright, veteran end, who is also a bulwark on defense.

The Hurricane and Tiger lines are of about the same weight and much will depend on the play of the two forward walls.

The Tigers and Hurricane will be keyed up to the highest point for this tilt.

This is the last league game for the Hurricane and a win would give them the title. The Tigers have played but one SCO contest, a 19-7 win over Hillsboro. A victory for the Tigers would place them atop the standings and give them a good chance to cop the SCO title.

The Tigers will meet Greenfield and Washington C. H. in that order after the Wilmington fracas.

The stickleback is a fish named for the sharp spines on its back.

ADAMLE TO GET CRACK AT FULL WITH BROWNS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—Tony Adamle, fullback for the Cleveland Browns who played center for Ohio State last year, got a crack at the Browns' first string fullback spot today as the squad resumed practice drills.

Coach Paul Brown said he believes the ex-Buck and former Cleveland Collinwood high school star deserves a chance at Motley's berth on the basis of what Tony has shown in the last two or three games.

"I haven't given up on Motley," Brown said, "in fact I thought he did a pretty good job against the Dons. It's just that he has made a few mistakes lately that hurt us and I think we'll be better all around if we have a little competition there."

Frank Gatski and John Yonakor will take over at center and end, respectively, replacing the injured Moe Scarry and Dante Lavelli.

Whether Edgar "Special Delivery" Jones will see action Sunday against the Chicago Rockets, Brown said, depends on the doctor's report on the ailing left half.

ESCOBAR SOARS IN RANKING BY KO OF VERGARA

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15—Two-to-one underdog Alfredo Escobar, 131, of Mexico ranked sky high today in boxing circles by his one-round knockout over fifth ranking featherweight Simon Vergara, 131, of Panama last night before 9,000 fans at Olympic auditorium.

Vergara, recent winner over former bantamweight champion Harold Dade, came out slowly at the bell to meet a sharp right hand to the jaw from Escobar to take a seven count.

Escobar swarmed in for the kill to clip the Panamanian to the floor for a five toll. Vergara threw two body punches before Escobar pumped his best punches into Vergara who went down helplessly.

Referee Reg Gilmore stopped the fight to award Escobar a knockout in 2:55 of the first.

WRESTLER HURT

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—Thor Morgan, 240-pound wrestler from Chattanooga, Tenn., was in Cleveland's St. Vincent hospital today with injuries suffered in a mat bout at Central armory last night. Morgan was rushed to the hospital after he was dropped to the mat by a "giant swing" at the hands of his opponent, Mr. X.

FESLER RISKS SQUAD INJURIES IN ROUGH DRILL

If Hard Work Will Do It Bucks Should Show Some Improvement

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15 — If hard work holds the solution for Ohio State's careworn gridders, they are bound to show improvement against Iowa Saturday.

Coach Wes Fesler, who pledged after last Saturday's 32-to-0 drubbing by Southern California that the Bucks would "keep on trying," isn't sparing the horses in his preparations this week.

He risked possible additional injuries to his already-battered squad yesterday as he sent the varsity through a long, rough drill against the freshman.

Defense, still the Bucks biggest problem although their offense also bogged down last week, rates the most attention. Fesler's latest defensive lineup has center Chuck Renner at the normal fullback position and fullback Ollie Cline shifting to the outside line backing post normally assigned to the quarterback.

Brenton Kirk continues to replace Jack Wilson as defensive left tackle. Jim Crane, a regular the latter part of 1946, moved back into the starting end assignment he lost at the beginning of this season. Crane and right guard Dave Templeton were praised by Fesler for fine performances in last week's debacle.

AT LEAST one member of the Bucks should be at his peak Saturday. Captain Bob Jabbusch, who lost his starting left guard job a week ago, became the father of a seven pound, four ounce son yesterday.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15 — Al Demarco, Iowa's brilliant little forward passing star, will be opposing an old teammate Saturday when he plays with the Hawkeyes against Ohio State.

Demarco's the lad who assistant Buck coach Esco Sarkinen says "did everything with that football but autograph it" last week when he

MEL HARDER'S PITCHING DAYS APPEAR ENDED

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—Mel Harder's pitching days for the Cleveland Indians were apparently finished today, but the veteran right-hander will continue to assist the Cleveland club in winning ball games.

Falcon fans remember Kirk's accurate point after touchdown placements, with Demarco holding, that gave Bowling Green the nod in some close games.

These words from Oldsmobile's new "radio song" have never been so aptly illustrated as in a typical ride to a football game. There's often a long distance to be covered. There's always traffic to contend with. Yet, if you're the driver of an Oldsmobile with Hydra-Matic Drive, you can... "Just forget the clutch and gear. All you do is sit and steer!" That's true in football traffic, or any other traffic. True on the highway, too. Hydra-Matic Drive takes care of all gear shifting—automatically—through four forward speeds. And the clutch pedal is eliminated completely!

What makes it even more impressive... this will be the ninth football season in which Hydra-Matic Drive has enabled Oldsmobile-owning fans to go to the games the easy way. GM Hydra-Matic Drive is a fully perfected, fully proved feature—and there's still nothing else on the market to compare with it.

Oldsmobile introduced Hydra-Matic Drive* 8 years ago. Today, Oldsmobile is still the lowest-priced car to offer it. Add to this Oldsmobile's traditional style-leadership—plus Oldsmobile's all-around, fine-car quality—and you'll see why so many football fans are Oldsmobile fans as well. You'll agree that...

LIBERTY LIGHTS GROWING DIM OVER POLAND

Terroristic Suppression
Typifies Methods Used
By Communists

(Ruthless methods used by Soviet occupational police in Poland to thrust a minority will on the opposition are described in the following dispatch from Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of International News Service.)

By KINGSBURY SMITH
WARSAW, Oct. 15—An official spokesman of the Polish Peasant party said today an average of 10,000 of its members are being compelled to visit security police stations in Poland every day. Efforts are being made to persuade these people to desert the Peasant party, whose leader, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, represents the only voice of political freedom still to be heard publicly in Poland.

This attempt to suppress the Peasant party typifies the ruthless methods being used at present by the Soviet puppet Polish government to enforce a Communist dictatorship of the proletariat in the tragic country.

These methods of political terrorism constitute one of the gravest dangers to peace in Poland in the opinion of the majority of people with whom one talks outside government circles.

THE LIGHTS of human liberty are growing dim in Poland and the terroristic suppression of individual freedom is causing many people to believe their only hope is war between East and West.

One worker was asked if he did not realize that war would bring further death and destruction to his country, which lost more than six million people in the last conflict.

"Yes," he replied, "but for many of us, death is preferable to the conditions that exist now, especially if we felt that we were dying in the cause of freedom."

The conditions to which he referred include prisons filled with thousands of people who are being held without trial and in many instances without any charges being lodged against them. They include the terror of a security police force estimated by diplomatic observers to number more than 100 thousand.

EXEMPLIFYING the conditions that are regarded as creating a danger to peace in Poland at present are the methods being used by the government to suppress the right wing of the Peasant party, and particularly to remove Mikolajczyk from the leadership of that party.

This little man is the one leader within the country on whom all hopes of freedom pivot.

It is generally acknowledged outside government circles that Mikolajczyk would win a clear majority in any free elections held in Poland. More than 100 thousand of his followers were arrested during the election campaign early this year.

Ten of the 125 members of the Peasant party's supreme council are now in jail. One of these

Boy Scout News

Regular weekly meeting of Boy Scout troop number 121 was held Tuesday evening in the Recreation center of St. Joseph's Catholic church, West Mound street. Jim Anderson opened the meeting with the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Jack Anderson lead the troop in the Scout oath and law.

Contest were held with the Pine Tree patrol winning the knot tying contest. At the meeting an instruction story was conducted on the first flag. Meeting closed as Robert Dean, Scout master, pronounced the benediction.

The troop members will meet Saturday at 12 o'clock noon at the scout masters' home, South Washington street, for an all night camping trip in Scout Lodge at Gold Cliff. The trip will afford the troop an opportunity to pass, second class hiking requirements and first class camping requirements.

men was arrested only recently and sentenced to five years' imprisonment for allegedly spreading false rumors about conditions in Poland.

NINE witnesses, including members of the security police, testified he was not guilty. He was convicted by a military court on the testimony of one witness who asserted that he overheard the man say the police had intervened in a strike, killing two persons.

A source close to Mikolajczyk said the latter is convinced the government intends eventually to arrest and imprison him.

Nevertheless, he is said to be determined not to resign his leadership of the party until he is removed by force.

He feels he can exert a restraining influence on his followers and prevent them from resorting to civil war in which he feels they would doubtless be annihilated.

$6 A MONTH FOR HOUSE IF MAN IS BRICKLAYER

Some Circleville area man can obtain a five-room dwelling for a rental of $6 a month—provided he is a bricklayer and is willing to take a job in the Columbus area.

It was disclosed Wednesday that this offer recently emanated from the office of Frank J. Colopy, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation at Columbus. So far as ascertained the job is still unfilled.

It seems that a harried employer contacted the Ohio State Employment Service, one of the two major divisions of the BUC, and requested "a bricklayer with experience in the repair of kilns". The employer offered to pay $2 an hour with the added unducement of the house at the low rent figure.

BOGGS DEFENDS FARMERS FROM COST CRITICISM

High Price Levels General, Not Just On Produce Of Agriculture

John G. Boggs, chairman of the local AAA committee, said Wednesday that he could well understand why the high cost of food items has brought forth much comment, but he believes that some of the inference found in much of the recent publicity is unfair.

"Let's be fair about this matter of food costs," said the committeeman. "I know as well as the next man that the food dollar doesn't go very far these days, and that makes for a particularly tough situation, especially for those people with relatively small incomes. But on the other hand, let's not be too hasty in placing the blame on the farmer, for there is more than one side to this question."

Boggs set forth several items that should be given consideration.

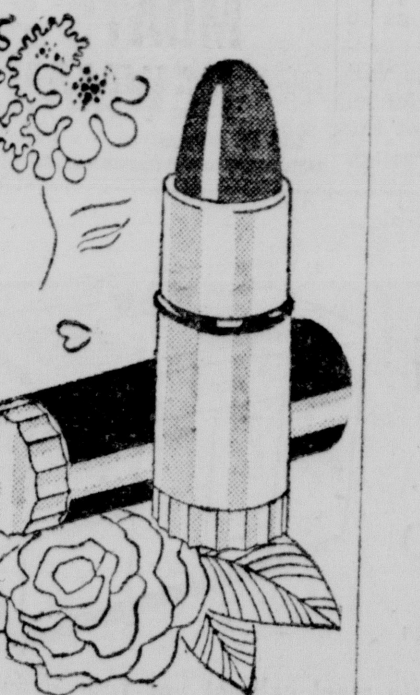

1. The high price level applies to many, many commodities other than those produced on the farms, so the whole price structure should be considered rather than singling out just food costs. Generally speaking, farmers are still not receiving a balanced per capita share of the national income. In the year of 1946 people living on farms received approximately 10 percent of the total income, yet people living on farms accounted for about 20 percent of the total population. It naturally follows, then, that others must be reaping an even bigger income harvest than our farmers.

2. The prices received by farmers for their raw products represent in general only about 50 percent of the total price which consumers pay for their food items. The balance goes for transportation, processing, handling, and profits along the way.

3. FARMERS do not set their own prices. They sell on the open market and the price peak attained at any given point in the year for a product does not mean that all farmers were fortunate enough to have sold at such prices. For instance, corn is now quoted at well over $2 a bushel. Without doubt a big percent of last year's crop went to market at about half this current price. Furthermore, current farm prices haven't been the result of any general attempt of farmers to curtail their production and force increased prices on the basis of scarcity. Farmers, on the other hand, have definitely met their responsibility of giving to the American people and to the world the greatest quantity of food and fiber that could be produced with the facilities available. They have done this in spite of handicaps and greatly increased production costs.

WASHINGTON observers report Dr. Paul R. Hawley, chief medical director of the Veterans' Administration, as likely successor to Gen. Omar N. Bradley should the general take over Army Chief of Staff Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's post when he becomes president of Columbia University in January. (International) cost farmers tremendously in soil resources. Farmers have been selling off their capital asset of soil elements. Some of the income now being received must necessarily be returned to the soils, so farmers have ahead of them a big and costly job in restoring soil fertility.

"These," concluded the committeeman, "are just a few of the things that should be considered when we talk about high food costs. Don't misunderstand me—I'm not trying to justify high prices, but I do think that all prices and all angles should be considered carefully."

LAYS MURDER CONFESSION TO 'FRAME,' THREATS

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 15—Frank Burns, Toledo ex-convict, was removed to Ohio State penitentiary today despite his last minute retraction of his confessed slaying of Joe Urbaytis, leader of Toledo's million dollar post office robbery in 1921.

Burns, who was sentenced from one to 20 years following his plea on a manslaughter charge, denied the shooting in a talk with Safety Director Edward A. De Angelo and Capt. George Timiney.

Burns told De Angelo that he had been "framed" and that he pleaded guilty because he had been "threatened."

De Angelo said he visited Burns in an effort to learn how Burns came into the possession of Capt. Timiney's revolver which was used in the Urbaytis slaying. Timiney claims the revolver was stolen from his automobile.

Burns insisted in his talk with De Angelo that he never had the police officer's gun and that he was in Texas at the time Urbaytis was shot.

De Angelo said he intended to question two men who Lucas county sheriff's officials say saw Timiney's revolver handed to Burns.

YOUTH AND THE UN
THE Chicago Sun recently announced that it would send 75 high school editors on a short visit to the meetings of the UN general assembly at Lake Success, N. Y. Pictures of some of the fortunate young people vividly portray their interest and enthusiasm.

Many adults remember with great pleasure those experiences of their school days which brought life to the things they were learning. A visit to a nearby museum, an opera, a Shakespeare play, a trip to the city hall, an all day hike to find "specimens" brought greater meaning to all of their studies. They recognize the value of these concrete experiences.

Many more high school students should have the opportunity of a visit to the United Nations in session. Parents who can would do well to take their youngsters to Lake Success if only for a day or two. Organizations of every kind might find it a good idea to finance trips for groups of young people who could not go otherwise. The rewards would be great. Boys and girls who do go find their interest in world citizenship greatly stimulated; they will grow into maturity knowing what some of their adult problems will be.

SO-CALLED UNANIMITY
WHAT COULD be a more transparent deception than the unanimous elections of totalitarian states? 'One hundred million people,' says Louis Fischer, expert on Russia, in his new book, Gandhi and Stalin, "do not agree on anything. They would not agree that telephones are necessary, that bathing is healthy, that bread is good. They would certainly not all vote for Stalin (or Tito or Franco or Peron) unless they were afraid not to."

Whenever it is announced that a nation is unanimously in favor of a certain man or course, be well assured that if truth were told it is far from unanimous.

The movies are making their contribution to food saving. Henceforth meals shown on the screen will not be filmed from real steaks and vegetables, but from wooden imitations. The wooden imitations are as near as many of us come to steak.

Indian summer is so nice a season that a law should be passed forbidding it to be replaced by winter.

Ex-President Hoover did well to deny his reported statement that Japan would not have attacked the United States without provocation. Had that utterance remained undisclaimed, Hoover's future opinions would probably not have been accorded the respect given many of those in the past.

Why does Summer seem so short, and Winter, with no more days by the calendar, so long-drawn-out?

Inside WASHINGTON

Unification and the GI; Taft's Hat in Nov. 17
He Faces Many Changes Link With Stassen Seen

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON—Unification of the armed forces has had such top-level effects as creation of the post of defense secretary, autonomy for the Air Force, and reduction of the secretaries of the Army and Navy to sub-cabinet rank, but it will be some time before the average serviceman feels the results of the merger.
First change probably will be the new insignia for Air Force personnel but pay, allowances, travel expense and the like are tied to separate laws and will not be altered.
The Air Force has plans for some radical changes including substitution of a special blue uniform for the present OD or khaki, and the designation of enlisted men by such titles as
"air crewman" instead of the traditional private, corporal or sergeant.
It may be a long time, however, before the uniform change can be brought about. Aware that the big argument for unification was economy, Defense Secretary James Forrestal is expected to be tight-fisted about a new garb that would cost the taxpayers plenty of money.
In fact, Forrestal favors dressing the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force in khaki during the summer months, scrapping the Navy gray uniforms as soon as they wear out and allowing "blues" only in winter.
Observers expect that a combined Army-Air Force appropriation bill will be presented to Congress for the 1948-49 fiscal year, since administration of the two branches probably can't be separated inside the next 18 months, at the earliest.

TAFT'S DECISION—Look for Ohio's Senator Robert Taft to announce that he will be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination by Nov. 1.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The most astonishing fact of our national existence is the contradiction between our necessities and the policy of government.
For instance, facing the deterioration of our relations with Soviet Russia, the airplane manufacturing industries were permitted to deteriorate. Yet, military experts speak of the next war as primarily in the air. With air bases all over the world, diplomacy made no effort to save them for American use.

Facing the need for improved and increased transportation facilities, agencies of government prevented the railroads from setting up funds during profitable years to maintain efficiencies in lean years and refused to permit the railroads to earn not profits but their way in the post-war general falling off of business. Wages were increased without regard to earnings as though it were normal for the railroads to be in the red. The processes for increasing rates to meet increased costs are so slow as to be of little value in arresting losses.

The costs of operating Class I Railroads —that is, the main lines of the country—have been increased approximately $3,018-000,000 a year as of September 2, 1947, over operating costs for 1939. And obviously in a rising cost market, the costs are bound to increase further. Had the Treasury permitted the railroads to accumulate reserves to meet these necessities, there would be few lines in the red; fewer whose roadbeds ride like corrugated washboards; fewer whose equipment ought to be in the junk shop. It is one thing to advertise modernization; it is quite another to have the money with which to do it. But during the war, a myopic Treasury kept the railroads from pursuing prudent business practices, with the result that they have to meet rehabilitation mostly through current earnings which are actually inadequate for current operations. Why the Treasury pursued so foolhardy a policy is no more difficult to understand than much else the Treasury has done during the past decade. Were this country forced by any circumstance into a war, its main transportation agency, the railroad, which should be absolutely shipshape by now, might prove dangerously inadequate.

In a statement before the Interstate Commerce Commission, Walter S. Franklin, Vice-President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, pointed to a fact which is tremendously important in our present situation:

"In addition to the deferred maintenance that has accumulated through the war period, attention should be called to the fact that the Eastern roads are not now in a position to meet a national emergency in the way they did at the outbreak of World War II. As an example, the Pennsylvania Railroad, with deferred maintenance of over $100 million in track structure and equipment and inadequate earnings for two years or more, could not spend, in addition to its present commitments, say $200 million as it did during the last war to properly provide for the needed facilities of all kinds."

Penicillin in a New Form Aids Acute Sinus Infection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

TO people who read headlines, penicillin may seem an old story,
but to the exact and precise doctor,
it is one which deepens in interest with each new extension of this wonder drug's usefulness.

When penicillin was first introduced, nobody thought it would have any effect when applied locally to the tissues. Since then, however, research has shown that penicillin can be taken into the body through the lungs and that when administered in this way, report excellent results in a large variety of respiratory infections.

The aerosol penicillin treatment is of value in infections of the respiratory tract such as the throat and lungs due to germs which are sensitive to penicillin. This treatment seems to be superior to the use of penicillin by injection because it is less painful and in addition the oxygen has some benefit in the lung infections. The oxygen also has a local, beneficial effect on the lining membranes of the affected tissues.

Drs. Godinez and Raul Infante have employed the treatment in acute infections of the sinuses, which are air spaces connected with the nose.

Three daily treatments were employed, after which treatment the patient was advised to gargle with some mild solution in order to prevent local irritation of the throat.

Acute Sinus Infection
In forty cases of acute sinus infection, an average of twelve treatments were employed. In chronic sinus infection, it was felt that if after twelve treatments no improvement occurs, the use of the aerosol penicillin should be stopped.

Acute infections of the throat, the larynx or voice-box, and the windpipe, also seem to respond satisfactorily to the aerosol penicillin.
Chronic infections are not benefited to as great an extent as are acute infections.

However, both acute and chronic bronchitis or inflammation of the tubes in the lungs, were helped with the aerosol penicillin method of treatment. It was found that in the acute infections, the temperature tended to become normal after the first few treatments, coughing became less severe, and the symptoms improved.

The treatment with aerosol penicillin is easily carried out and quickly brings improvement in respiratory infections.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
B. M.: What causes swelling of the feet and legs?
Answer: Swelling of the feet usually comes from heart disease, kidney disease, some trouble with the ligaments in the feet, or a disturbance of the circulation in the legs.
Before treatment can be suggested, the cause of the trouble must be found.

STARS SAY—

For Wednesday, October 15
A DIFFICULT situation, or perplexing problem may arise, calling for calm consideration and harmonious adjustment, if a disruptive and injurious condition is to be definitely side-stepped.
This might be in connection with plans of major importance

Delicate Problem For GOP

Also look for the development of at least near-close relations between Taft and Harold E. Stassen, at the moment the only avowed GOP candidate.

Political observers, certain that Taft has decided definitely to "take the plunge," are watching the Stassen angle carefully. They believe it is possible that Taft may seek Stassen as his running mate.

The turn of events, of course, depends on Taft getting the call over New York's Gov. Tom Dewey. Not to be forgotten is the possibility of a Taft-Dewey stalemate resulting in a draft for Gen.
Dwight D. (Ike) Eisenhower to head the ticket.

SYNOPSIS
Worlds separate young Alison Van Dyke and Teresa, her glamorous half-sister. The latter, ambitious and domineering, was one of Washington's most successful interior decorators, while Alison and Kitty, their mother, lived quietly in Vermont. Alison was 16 at the time she came to Washington for Teresa's wedding and something happened to her heart when she met her sister's fiancé, attractive Sam Tarrant, quiet, idealistic newspaperman. The wedding reception was held at the home of Teresa's wealthy friend, kindly Edna Castine. It was a gala affair, and if Edna was disappointed because Teresa had chosen Sam in preference to her beloved brother Philip, she managed to conceal it.

CHAPTER FIVE
AGAIN IN October four years later a taxi stopped before Teresa's house in Georgetown and Alison stepped out. Despite the heavy bag she lugged on the sidewalk a few minutes and glanced about her. The rather small but highly desirable and sought-after houses in this old section of Washington, with their correctly kept lawns still green, were so strange to her she was filled with nostalgia for the big old house in Vermont. But because that house had been sold three weeks ago and strangers had occupied it since yesterday, she tried to tell herself it was absurd to think of it any longer as her home. The only home she had was the one before which she was standing, one she had never seen before, the house where Teresa lived with Suzy, her three-year-old daughter, and a maid and Suzy's nurse. There was nothing else to do now except go in and make herself a member of that household.

Under the burden of the heavy bag that contained all her earthly possessions she walked up the steps, her free hand grasping the iron railing. But she did not go in at once. It was as though she had to cling to this last moment be- fore going into Teresa's house, clinging to it so that she would re- member how she felt and even how she looked in an uncertain time to come.

How did she feel? A little fright- ened at the newness of it all, but flattered that Teresa wanted her to come and live with her and share her enviable position in the capital; still sorrowing from her mother's death ten weeks ago, de- spite Kitty's telling her she want- ed her to feel relieved and not to wear black; still somewhat cha- grined that Teresa had not come to the funeral (she had been away on a decorating job in North Caro- lina); despite the kindness of Ter- esa's long letter that had included such a detailed explanation of what Alison should do that it was necessary only for Alison to read the letter when she felt the need of advice; and immensely hopeful for the future that lay beyond this clean white door with the shiny brass knocker.

She had become a young woman who could wear anything because people who were interested in her never remembered what she wore. Nor could they adequately describe her, for there was a quality in her face not easily defined. You might call it thoughtfulness or sensitiv- ity or a quiet alertness. Her hair was still ash-blond, soft and fine, her eyes smoky gray. She wore a vivid lipstick now. And while she looked no more than her 20 years there was something adult about her, a quiet poise and an early wisdom.

Perhaps she would always re- member that on this afternoon she was wearing a dark red tweed suit and a small brimmed hat made of the same material as the suit and low-heeled black suede sandals when she lifted her hand to the knocker of Teresa's house.

In no time at all a stout colored maid opened the door and took her bag almost before Alison succeed- ed in telling her who she was.

She wondered why the maid whispered when she said, "Mr. Tarrant is in the living room."

Sam! Alison felt a galvanic shock. . . . Sam in the living room. Sam, whom Teresa had divorced when Suzy was a baby. The only explanation Alison and Kitty had had was that fragment Teresa had written, "Sam and I are com- pletely incompatible and I am get- ting a divorce. Naturally Suzy stays with me. It is all so painful to me that I don't ever wish to dis- cuss it." Now Sam was in the liv- ing room.

Though she had been anticipat- ing the interior of Teresa's house, the news of Sam's being here so astonished her that she glanced about only superficially as she left the hall with the brightly colored wallpaper and entered the living room.

It was beautiful, of course. New things blending with old things. The two pale green love seats faced each other before the fire- place and the gray rug was velvety under her feet. Heavy yellow silk curtains closed out the harsh- ness of the sun, but permitted enough sunlight so that the room had a warm golden glow.

As the little French clock softly chimed the hour of four, Sam arose to meet her.

"Why, Alison, you're all grown up,"

He took her hand and held it and looked into her face.

"How long has it been? But hold it. Don't tell me. There was a war between. But it has been a long time."

"I have not seen you, she thought, since the night you and Teresa were married. But in the years be- tween, the war years, you left something with me that remained alive, Sam. . . . that confused en- chantment whenever I thought of you and wondered where you were and what had happened to you."

"Won't you sit down?" he asked. "Because until you do, I can't."

They laughed together and when they were facing one another across the low table between the love seats, he asked, "How is your mother?"

"She died ten weeks ago."

"His chin came up quickly. 'I'm sorry. I liked her very much. I al- ways wanted to know her better.'"

When he gave her a long, pen- etrating, thoughtful glance she had the opportunity to see him quite clearly. He was still tall and broad- shouldered, with a reserved, as- etic face. His black hair still grew from a peak in the middle of his forehead and his eyes were still dark and warm and bright. She had not known before that he had a fine humorous mouth. Yet like all of the young men of his time he looked older when you looked directly into his eyes and there was greater tautness in the muscles of his face. Four years ago she had thought him the hand- somest, most masculine person she had ever known. That impression, she thought now, still remained.

Were he and Teresa in love again? It would be wonderful, she supposed, if they would remarry. Four years ago she had thought that the color of Teresa would dye all of a man's days and all of his nights.

"So you've come to visit Teresa," he said.

Alison shook her head. "No, I've come to stay. I'm going to live with Teresa. I'm going to work."

"With Teresa?"

"Oh, I couldn't. I don't know anything about her work. I've had two years of college." Accom- plished by Kitty's selling the silver and the few good pieces of antique furniture and by convincing the local jeweler that her odd pieces of jewelry were worth more than they actually were. "I'll probably take a business course first."

"I wish you luck."

Their eyes met almost inti- mately.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. The very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

YOU CAN BE TOO RICH
THERE is such a thing as being too rich—if not in dollar terms, then certainly in high cards. If you hold so many trick-takers in your own hand that you can be sure your partner hasn't a thing of value, the power of your own holding may shrink to futility. There are two kinds of plays which the declarer can then employ to bring about your undoing—the throw-in and the squeeze. He may even use both of them against you and thus beat you out of a couple of tricks which your side could have taken if your partner had any of your big cards.

"The worst experience I ever had at a bridge table," said West after he had been both squeezed and end-played on the one hand. When he led the club K, South took a look at the dummy and noticed two probable losers in hearts, one in diamonds and two in clubs, a total of five. But he avoided two of them by playing which was out.

Disliking to set up the club Q, West did not now lead a second club, but switched to the spade 8. South cleared trumps then in three rounds and led the club 6. With no point in holding up and noting that the dummy's Q was now established, West took this with the A and returned the 4. It was his only way to avoid leading from his honors in the red suits. South discarded his heart 10 on the club Q, then led to the now blank heart K. West took it and for once found a lead which was not distasteful to him, the heart Q, which South ruffed.

Then came the hardest blow of all, as South led his last three trumps. West discarded the best way possible to him, but it did no good. As the last spade was led, South held his two diamonds and dummy the A-9 plus the heart 9. West wouldn't set up the heart by discarding the J, so blanked his diamond K. The diamond 4 to the A dropped it and the Q got the last trick.

Whiteman, the ABC disk jockey now catering to the musical taste of the nation with a full-hour platter session each weekday afternoon. "Ideas and quality are missing from many of the songs which bandleaders are being asked to play these days," says Whiteman, "and as a result they have resorted to filling out their programs with tried and tested tunes. Looking over the latest listing of the most played songs on the air Whiteman comes up with a startling number of oldies. Included are 'I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now,' 'Peg o' My Heart,' 'That's My Desire,' 'When You Were Sweet Sixteen,'

"Sugar Blues," "All of Me," "April Showers," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Guilty," "Heartaches," "The Whiffenpoof Song," "Body and Soul," "My Future Just Passed" and "I Understand." Vocalists as well as bandleaders, says Whiteman, also are following the trend toward revivals. Tony Martin has just plattered "Begin the Beguine," Gordon MacRae is winning favor with his new record of "I Understand." Whiteman points out that the revival fad is working out in two ways: the new generation welcomes the songs, which they don't know are old ones, while the older generation gets the nostalgic kick that goes with hearing an almost-forgotten favorite of earlier days.

On his disk jockey program Whiteman gets numerous requests for the vintage melodies and he certainly aims to please. That's why on practically every one of his platters shows you can always hear a favorite of yesterday. Ginny Simms sings "So Far", hit song from the new Rodgers-Hammerstein musical, "Allegro", which she introduced on the air a few weeks ago, on this Sunday's (Oct. 19) "Pause that refreshes" program—and CBS at 6:30 p. m. Another Dick Rodgers favorite, the charming waltz melody, "Lover", highlights the program under the deft orchestral touch of the Percy Faith ensemble.

CRUCIAL GAME TO BE PLAYED FRIDAY NIGHT

Tigers Plagued By Injuries As Hurricane Contest Nears; Outlook Dark

Circleville high school's scrappy Tigers were busy preparing for Friday night's crucial contest with the Wilmington Hurricane on the latter's gridiron.

All was not rosy in the Tiger camp.

Friday night's grueling contest with a rough and rugged Trojan team from Newcomers-town has left the Red and Black squad suffering from various aches and bruises.

Definitely out of action Friday night and possibly for the rest of the season is Bob Elsea, senior tackle. Bob suffered a cracked bone in his left forearm.

Other boys who had been counted on to see plenty of action, namely, Dick Stein and Ronnie Hennis may not be able to play. Dick has a kidney injury and Ronnie a shoulder separation.

THE LOSS of these two boys will weaken the end and guard positions. Stein is an end, Hennis a guard. Jerry Mayberry who has been out with a knee injury returned to the squad Monday and may be ready to go Friday.

Another injury that has caused concern is that of Dean Smallwood, varsity end. Dean was limping badly after his injury in Friday night's battle. It is not known whether he will be in condition to start against the Hurricane come Friday. He is suffering from an ouchy ankle and bruised knee.

Adding to the woes of the coaching staff and squad is the report on the Hurricane eleven.

Wilmington is leading the SCO league at the present time with victories over Washington C. H., Greenfield and Hillsboro.

The Hurricane attack is built on speed and passing, much the same as the Tigers.

THE MEN to bear watching in the Wilmington backfield are Cleo Hamilton, dusky speedster, who runs from a halfback post and Adams, who runs his team from the quarterback spot. He is better than average as a passer and with Hamilton on the receiving end of his tosses combine to form a deadly combination. Also coming in for his share of pass receiving is Cartwright, veteran end, who is also a bulwark on defense.

The Hurricane and Tiger lines are of about the same weight and much will depend on the play of the two forward walls.

The Tigers and Hurricane will be keyed up to the highest point for this tilt.

This is the last league game for the Hurricane and a win would give them the title. The Tigers have played but one SCO contest, a 19-7 win over Hillsboro. A victory for the Tigers would place them atop the standings and give them a good chance to cop the SCO title.

The Tigers will meet Greenfield and Washington C. H. in that order after the Wilmington fracas.

The stickleback is a fish named for the sharp spines on its back.

ADAMLE TO GET CRACK AT FULL WITH BROWNS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—Tony Adamle, fullback for the Cleveland Browns who played center for Ohio State last year, got a crack at the Browns' first string fullback spot today as the squad resumed practice drills.

Coach Paul Brown said he believes the ex-Buck and former Cleveland Collinwood high school star deserves a chance at Motley's berth on the basis of what Tony has shown in the last two or three games.

"I haven't given up on Motley," Brown said, "in fact I thought he did a pretty good job against the Dons. It's just that he has made a few mistakes lately that hurt us and I think we'll be better all around if we have a little competition there."

Frank Gatski and John Yonakor will take over at center and end, respectively, replacing the injured Moe Searry and Dante Lavelli.

Whether Edgar "Special Delivery" Jones will see action Sunday against the Chicago Rockets, Brown said, depends on the doctor's report on the ailing left half.

ESCOBAR SOARS IN RANKING BY KO OF VERGARA

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15—Two-to-one underdog Alfredo Escobar, 131, of Mexico ranked sky high today in boxing circles by his one-round knockout over fifth ranking featherweight Simon Vergara, 131, of Panama last night before 9,000 fans at Olympic auditorium.

Vergara, recent winner over former bantamweight champion Harold Dade, came out slowly at the bell to meet a sharp right hand to the jaw from Escobar to take a seven count.

Escobar swarmed in for the kill to clip the Panamanian to the floor for a five toll. Vergara threw two body punches before Escobar pumped his best punches into Vergara who went down helplessly.

Referee Reg Gilmore stopped the fight to award Escobar a knockout in 2:55 of the first.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—Thor Morgan, 240-pound wrestler from Chattanooga, Tenn., was in Cleveland's St. Vincent hospital today with injuries suffered in a mat bout at Central armory last night. ## FESLER RISKS SQUAD INJURIES IN ROUGH DRILL

If Hard Work Will Do It Bucks Should Show Some Improvement

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15 — If hard work holds the solution for Ohio State's careworn gridders, they are bound to show improvement against Iowa Saturday.

Coach Wes Fesler, who pledged after last Saturday's 32-to-0 drubbing by Southern California that the Bucks would "keep on trying," isn't sparing the horses in his preparations this week.

He risked possible additional injuries to his already-battered squad yesterday as he sent the varsity through a long, rough drill against the freshman.

Defense, still the Bucks' biggest problem although their offense also bogged down last week, rates the most attention. Fesler's latest defensive lineup has center Chuck Renner at the normal fullback position and fullback Ollie Cline shifting to the outside line backing post normally assigned to the quarterback.

Brenton Kirk continues to replace Jack Wilson as defensive left tackle. Jim Crane, a regular the latter part of 1946, moved back into the starting end assignment he lost at the beginning of this season. Crane and right guard Dave Templeton were praised by Fesler for fine performances in last week's debacle.

AT LEAST one member of the Bucks should be at his peak Saturday. Captain Bob Jabbusch, who lost his starting left guard job a week ago, became the father of a seven pound, four ounce son yesterday.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15 — Al Demarco, Iowa's brilliant little forward passing star, will be opposing an old teammate Saturday when he plays with the Hawkeyes against Ohio State.

Demarco's the lad who assistant Buck coach Esco Sarkinen says "did everything with that football but autograph it" last week when he

MEL HARDER'S PITCHING DAYS APPEAR ENDED

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15—Mel Harder's pitching days for the Cleveland Indians were apparently finished today, but the veteran right-hander will continue to assist the Cleveland club in winning ball games.

Tribe President Bill Veeck has appointed Mel as coach-at-large of all pitchers under contract to the Cleveland Indians, including the Tribe's 19 farm clubs.

"There isn't a member of the Indians' pitching staff, from Bob Feller down, who doesn't scouted the Hawkeyes against Indiana.

In 1943 and 1944, Demarco and Brenton Kirk, present Buck tackle, were teammates on a couple of fine Bowling Green teams. Both were Marine corps trainees.

Falcon fans remember Kirk's accurate point after touchdown placements, with Demarco holding, that gave Bowling Green the nod in some close games.

Harder's new job will permit him to travel where he thinks his services would be of the most value in helping young pitchers master the finer points of the trade. He also will spend some time with the home squad, working with young pitchers.

Mel seemed pleased with the new position and the possibilities it affords.

"You'll be fresh when you arrive ..."

"thanks to Hydra-Matic Drive!"

These words from Oldsmobile's new "radio song" have never been so aptly illustrated as in a typical ride to a football game. There's often a long distance to be covered. There's always traffic to contend with. Yet, if you're the driver of an Oldsmobile with Hydra-Matic Drive, you can ... "Just forget the clutch and gear. All you do is sit and steer!" That's true in football traffic, or any other traffic. True on the highway, too. Hydra-Matic Drive takes care of all gear shifting—automatically—through four forward speeds. And the clutch pedal is eliminated completely!

What makes it even more impressive . . . this will be the ninth football season in which Hydra-Matic Drive has enabled Oldsmobile-owning fans to go to the games the easy way. GM Hydra-Matic Drive is a fully perfected, fully proved feature—and there's still nothing else on the market to compare with it.

Oldsmobile introduced Hydra-Matic Drive* 8 years ago. Today, Oldsmobile is still the lowest-priced car to offer it. Add to this Oldsmobile's traditional style-leadership—plus Oldsmobile's all-round, fine-car quality—and you'll see why so many football fans are Oldsmobile fans as well. You'll agree that . . .

Nine Rides To Be Featured At Pumpkin Show

GOODING AGAIN COMING TO CITY WITH DEVICES

Sites Being Selected For Thrilling Amusements—Bargain Day Set

Nine big amusements will be in operation by the F. E. Gooding Amusement company during Circleville's 41st annual four-day Pumpkin Show to be held Wednesday through Saturday, next week, Oct. 22-25.

In making this announcement Wednesday it was disclosed that on Friday, Oct. 24, the Gooding organization will have a "bargain day" when the youngsters can enjoy any ride for the cut price of 9 cents.

The rides this year will include an airplane, ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl, looper, whip, octopus, caterpillar, kiddie auto, and merry-go-round.

Under a contract with the organization sponsoring the Pumpkin Show the Gooding amusement organization again will close its Summer season in Circleville—a yearly event always looked forward to by the "ride" employees.

OFFICIALS of Pumpkin Show, Inc., and Floyd E. Gooding and his aides were busy Wednesday, selecting sites on Court street and on Main street, for installation of the amusement rides.

It was not so many years ago, Mr. Gooding revealed, that he stood silently watching more fortunate children gleefully riding a merry-go-round. He would have liked to ride that merry-go-round but it cost money—and money was something he had none of.

Before Mr. Gooding departed from the fairgrounds that night he vowed that some fine day he would have a merry-go-round all of his own. From that moment on every effort he made was with the thought that he would eventually accumulate enough money for a down payment on a merry-go-round. Little did he realize that one day he would be heralded as the world's largest individual owner of amusement rides and that he would own more merry-go-rounds than any other living person.

In 1947 the Gooding concern, controlled by Mr. Gooding, operates 65 riding devices. During the height of the 1947 Summer fair season the Gooding organization played eight county fairs in the same week.

Mr. Gooding said that from the opening day in early Spring everyone connected with his organization looks forward to Circleville and its Pumpkin Show in October. The reason is that for many years the Pumpkin Show has been the "last stand" of each season. For the Pumpkin Show he personally selects the rides and he always picks the newest and most beautiful.

Besides other devices Mr. Gooding is this year bringing to the Pumpkin Show a new streamlined merry-go-round and her baby. The baby is of course for tiny tots and actually cost four times as much as the first flyin' ginny purchased by Mr. Gooding.

AT THE present time, Mr. Gooding said, $70,000 is being expended to improve the facilities at the Gooding winter quarters which, even before the improvements, were the finest quarters of the kind in the nation. Facilities include recreation rooms with pool and billiard tables, shower baths, locker rooms for the mechanics and ride boys.

Mr. Gooding disclosed that despite the gaiety of the great Circleville Pumpkin Show—which has been held for 41

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

*Increases since 1939, from Department of Labor Index for moderate income families in large cities, and from National Housing Agency.

...our costs have gone up, too!

SOME PEOPLE get along under higher prices by using less or doing without. Some have more income to help meet higher costs. All can adjust outgo to income, to a large extent.

But a railroad cannot skip or do without and still provide good, efficient and safe service—adequate to the needs and desires of the public.

The chart at left shows why the Eastern Railroads have had to ask for an increase in freight rates. The simple reason is that the increases allowed since 1939 are nowhere near enough to meet today's costs. The revenue the railroads get for hauling the average ton of freight is only 15% more, whereas the cost of operating the railroads has increased more than 63% in that period.

Only recently, for instance, an arbitration board added another $468,000,000 to our annual bill for wages and wage taxes, of which $187,000,000 is borne by the Eastern Railroads. This brings the increase in these items alone to more than 75% since 1939.

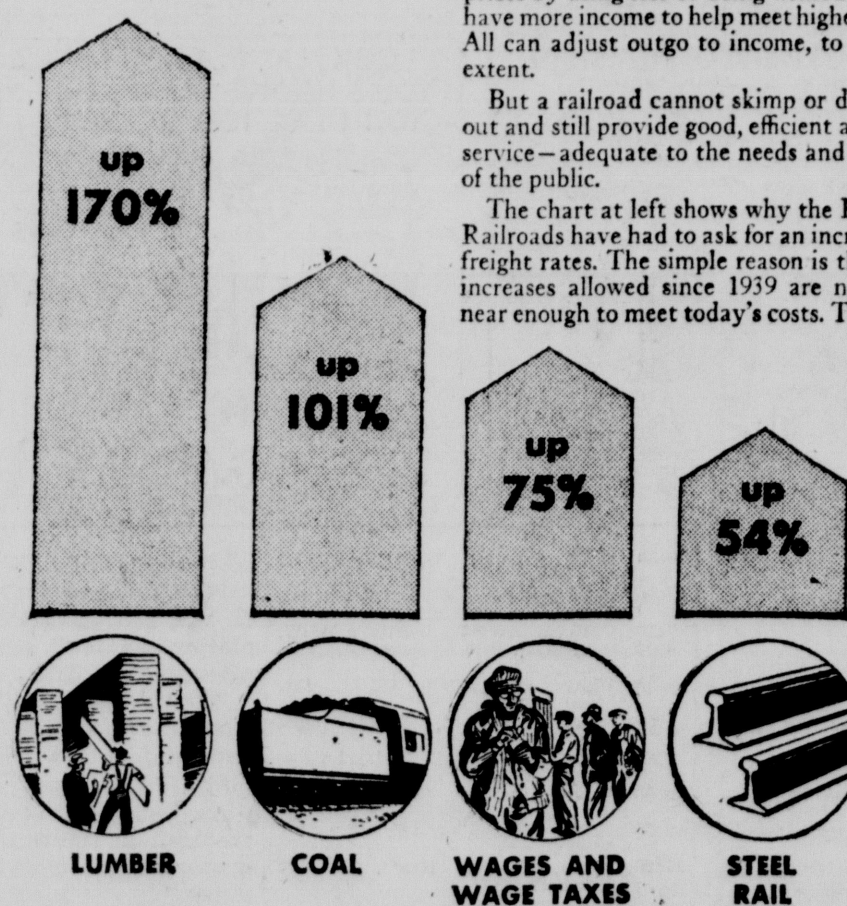

All the railroads ask is what the law says they should be allowed to have. That means just and reasonable rates. The law says there is need in the public interest for adequate and efficient railway transportation service at the lowest cost consistent with furnishing such service.

In other words, all the railroads ask is sufficient revenue to enable them, under honest, economical and efficient management, to provide the kind of service people want.

Some examples of increased costs since 1939, affecting railroad operation

Increased freight rates since 1939 have increased the revenue from hauling the average ton of freight one mile

BOGGS DEFENDS FARMERS FROM COST CRITICISM

High Price Levels General, Not Just On Produce Of Agriculture

John G. Boggs, chairman of the local AAA committee, said Wednesday that he could well understand why the high cost of food items has brought forth much comment, but he believes that some of the inference found in much of the recent publicity is unfair.

"Let's be fair about this matter of food costs," said the committeeman. "I know as well as the next man that the food dollar doesn't go very far these days, and that makes for a particularly tough situation, especially for those people with relatively small incomes. But on the other hand, let's not be too hasty in placing the blame on the farmer, for there is more than one side to this question."

Boggs set forth several items that should be given consideration.

1. The high price level applies to many, many commodities other than those produced on the farms, so the whole price structure should be considered rather than singling out just food costs. Generally speaking, farmers are still not receiving a balanced per capita share of the national income. In the year of 1946 people living on farms received approximately 10 percent of the total income, yet people living on farms accounted for about 20 percent of the total population. It naturally follows, then, that others must be reaping an even bigger income harvest than our farmers.

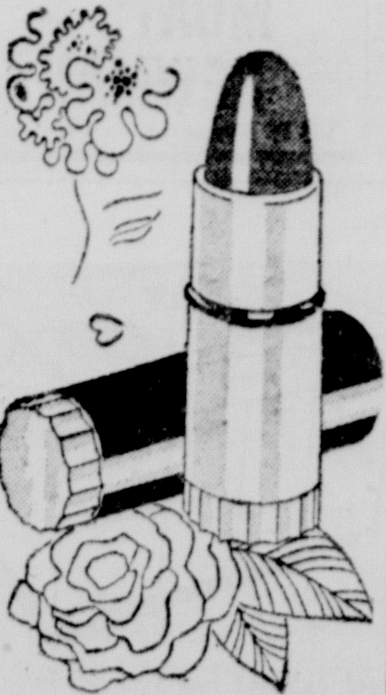

2. The prices received by farmers for their raw products represent in general only about 50 percent of the total price which consumers pay for their food items. The balance goes for transportation, processing, handling, and profits along the way.

3. FARMERS do not set their own prices. They sell on the open market and the price peak attained at any given point in the year for a product does not mean that all farmers were fortunate enough to have sold at such prices. For instance, corn is now quoted at well over $2 a bushel. Without doubt a big percent of last year's crop went to market at about half this current price. Furthermore, current farm prices haven't been the result of any general attempt of farmers to curtail their production on the basis of scarcity. Farmers, on the other hand, have definitely met their responsibility of giving to the American people and to the world the greatest quantity of food and fiber that could be produced with the facilities available. They have done this in spite of handicaps and greatly increased production costs.

To Succeed Omar?

Dr. Paul R. Hawley

WASHINGTON observers report Dr. Paul R. Hawley, chief medical director of the Veterans' Administration, as likely successor to Veterans' Administrator Gen. Omar N. Bradley should the general take over Army Chief of Staff Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's post when he becomes president of Columbia University in January. (International)

cost farmers tremendously in soil resources. Farmers have been selling off their capital asset of soil elements. Some of the income now being received must necessarily be returned to the soils, so farmers have ahead of them a big and costly job in restoring soil fertility.

"These," concluded the committeeman, "are just a few of the things that should be considered when we talk about high food costs. Don't misunderstand me—I'm not trying to justify high prices, but I do think that all prices and all angles should be considered carefully."

Thank God For Muscle-Rub!

WRITES MR. ROBERT JORDAN, COLON, MICH.

Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic-Arthritic-Sciatic-Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kind of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip-knee—call of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at Remember, Muscle-Rub is sold on this money back guarantee. If only half a bottle doesn't bring relief your druggist is authorized to return your money.

LAYS MURDER CONFESSION TO 'FRAME,' THREATS

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 15—Frank Burns, Toledo ex-convict, was removed to Ohio State penitentiary today despite his last minute retraction of his confessed slaying of Joe Urbaytis, leader of Toledo's million dollar post office robbery in 1921.

Burns, who was sentenced from one to 20 years following his plea on a manslaughter charge, denied the shooting in a talk with Safety Director Edward A. De Angelo and Capt. George Timiney.

Burns told De Angelo that he had been "framed" and that he pleaded guilty because he had been "threatened."

De Angelo said he visited Burns in an effort to learn how Burns came into the possession of Capt. Timiney's revolver which was used in the Urbaytis slaying. Timiney claims the revolver was stolen from his automobile.

Burns insisted in his talk with De Angelo that he never had the police officer's gun and that he was in Texas at the time Urbaytis was shot.

De Angelo said he intended to question two men who Lucas county sheriff's officials say saw Timiney's revolver handed to Burns.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 15—Everybody's happy about Oregon's solution to the problem of "What to do with the kids when the older folks are out working in the fields?" Last year there were 1045 children under 14 in seven Oregon farm labor camps. Twenty-three churches got together and supplied teams of college girls interested in sociology who got some practical experience in child care.

THERE is such a thing as being too rich - if not in dollar terms, then certainly in high cards. If you hold so many trick-takers in your own hand that you can be sure your partner hasn't a thing of value, the power of your own holding may shrink to futility. There are two kinds of plays which the declarer can then employ to bring about your undoing - the throw-in and the squeeze. He may even use both of them against you and thus beat you out of a couple of tricks which your side could have taken if your partner had any of your big cards.

"The worst experience I ever had at a bridge table," said West after he had been both squeezed and end-played on the one hand. When he led the club K, South took a look at the dummy and noticed two probable losers in hearts, one in diamonds and two in clubs, a total of five. But he avoided two of them by playing West for every card of importance which was out.

Disliking to set up the club Q, West did not now lead a second club, but switched to the spade 8. South cleared trumps then in three rounds and led the club 6. With no point in holding up and noting that the dummy's Q was now established, West took this with the A and returned the 4. It was his only way to avoid leading from his honors in the red suits. South discarded his heart 10 on the club Q, then led to the now blank heart K. West took it and for once found a lead which was not distasteful to him, the heart Q, which South ruffed. Then came the hardest blow of all, as South led his last three trumps. West discarded the best way possible to him, but it did no good. As the last spade was led, South held his two diamonds and dummy the A-9 plus the heart 9. West wouldn't set up the heart by discarding the J, so blanked his diamond K. The diamond 4 to the A dropped it and the Q got the last trick.

Whiteman, the ABC disk jockey now catering to the musical taste of the nation with a full-hour platter session each weekday afternoon.

"Ideas and quality are missing from many of the songs which bandleaders are being asked to play these days," says Whiteman, "and as a result they have resorted to filling out their programs with tried and tested tunes."

Radio listeners are being given a heavy dose of yesterday's song hits and their revival evidently stems from the fact that many of the tunes now being composed lack the merit of the past melodies.

That's the opinion of Paul

Vocalists as well as bandleaders, says Whiteman, also are following the trend toward revivals. Tony Martin has just plattered "Begin the Beguine," Gordon MacRae is winning favor with his new record of "I Understand."

Whiteman points out that the revival fad is working out in two ways: the new generation welcomes the songs, which they don't know are old ones, while the older generation gets the nostalgic kick that goes with hearing an almost-forgotten favorite of earlier days.

On his disk jockey program Whiteman gets numerous requests for the vintage melodies and he certainly aims to please. That's why on practically every one of his platters you can always hear a favorite of yesterday.

Ginny Simms sings "So Far," hit song from the new Rodgers-Hammerstein musical, "Allegro," which she introduced on the air a few weeks ago, on this Sunday's (Oct. 19) "Pause that refreshes" program—and CBS at 6:30 p. m. Another Dick Rodgers favorite, the charming waltz melody, "Lover," highlights the program under the deft orchestral touch of the Percy Faith ensemble.

The closing medley this week links two Cole Porter classics as Ginny sings "Night and Day," followed by the orchestra playing "I Love You" from "Mexican Hayride," a popular tune poem, is Miss Simms' other song

Nine Rides To Be Featured At Pumpkin Show

GOODING AGAIN COMING TO CITY WITH DEVICES

Sites Being Selected For Thrilling Amusements—Bargain Day Set

Nine big amusements will be in operation by the F. E. Gooding Amusement company during Circleville's 41st annual four-day Pumpkin Show to be held Wednesday through Saturday, next week, Oct. 22-25.

In making this announcement Wednesday it was disclosed that on Friday, Oct. 24, the Gooding organization will have a "bargain day" when the youngsters can enjoy any ride for the cut price of 9 cents.

The rides this year will include an airplane, ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl, looper, whip, octopus, caterpillar, kiddie auto, and merry-go-round.

Under a contract with the organization sponsoring the Pumpkin Show the Gooding amusement organization again will close its Summer season in Circleville—a yearly event always looked forward to by the "ride" employees.

OFFICIALS of Pumpkin Show, Inc., and Floyd E. Gooding and his aides were busy Wednesday, selecting sites on Court street and on Main street, for installation of the amusement rides.

It was not so many years ago, Mr. Gooding revealed, that he stood silently watching more fortunate children gleefully riding a merry-go-round. He would have liked to ride that merry-go-round but it cost money—and money was something he had none of.

Before Mr. Gooding departed from the fairgrounds that night he vowed that some fine day he would have a merry-go-round all of his own. From that moment on every effort he made was with the thought that he would eventually accumulate enough money for a down payment on a merry-go-round. Little did he realize that one day he would be heralded as the world's largest individual owner of amusement rides and that he would own more merry-go-rounds than any other living person.

In 1947 the Gooding concern, controlled by Mr. Gooding, operates 65 riding devices. During the height of the 1947 Summer fair season the Gooding organization played eight county fairs in the same week.

Mr. Gooding said that from the opening day in early Spring everyone connected with his organization looks forward to Circleville and its Pumpkin Show in October. The reason is that for many years the Pumpkin Show has been the "last stand" of each season. For the Pumpkin Show he personally selects the rides and he always picks the newest and most beautiful.

Besides other devices Mr. Gooding is this year bringing to the Pumpkin Show a new streamlined merry-go-round and her baby. The baby is of course for tiny tots and actually cost four times as much as the first flyin' ginny purchased by Mr. Gooding.

AT THE present time, Mr. Gooding said, $70,000 is being expended to improve the facilities at the Gooding winter quarters which, even before the improvements, were the finest quarters of the kind in the nation. Facilities include recreation rooms with pool and billiard tables, shower baths, locker rooms for the mechanics and ride boys.

Mr. Gooding disclosed that despite the gaiety of the great Circleville Pumpkin Show—which has been held for 41

...our costs have gone up, too!

SOME PEOPLE get along under higher prices by using less or doing without. Some have more income to help meet higher costs. All can adjust outgo to income, to a large extent.

But a railroad cannot skimp or do without and still provide good, efficient and safe service—adequate to the needs and desires of the public.

The chart at left shows why the Eastern Railroads have had to ask for an increase in freight rates. The simple reason is that the increases allowed since 1939 are nowhere near enough to meet today's costs. The revenue the railroads get for hauling the average ton of freight is only 15% more, whereas the cost of operating the railroads has increased more than 63% in that period.

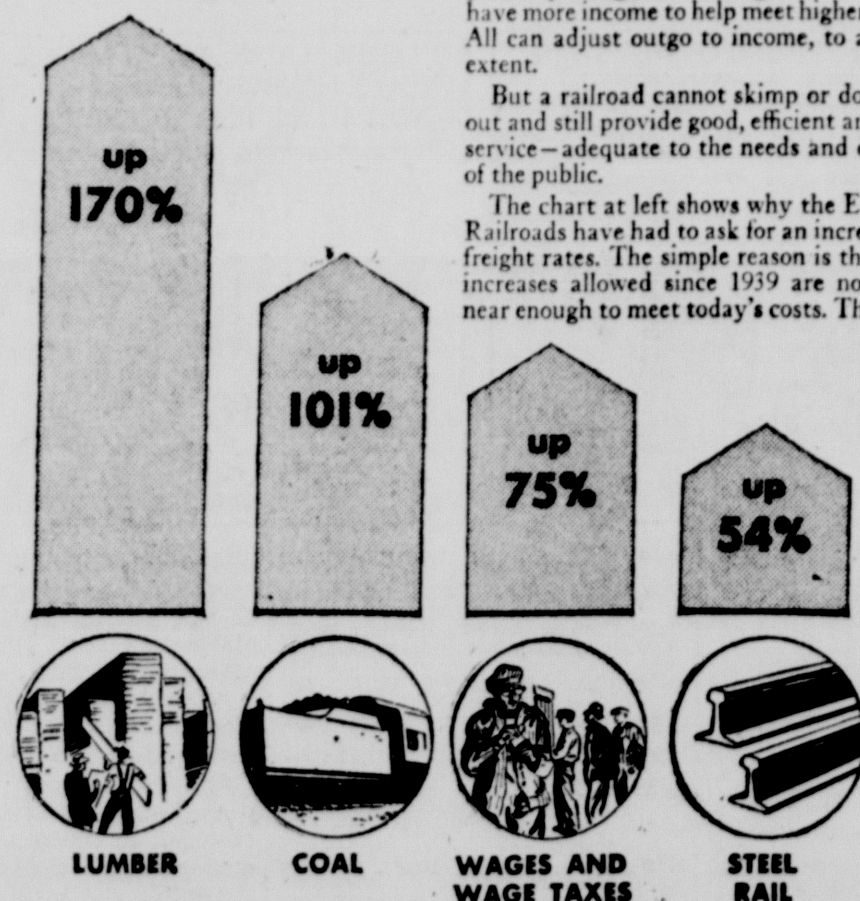

Only recently, for instance, an arbitration board added another $468,000,000 to our annual bill for wages and wage taxes, of which $187,000,000 is borne by the Eastern Railroads. This brings the increase in these items alone to more than 75% since 1939.

All the railroads ask is what the law says they should be allowed to have. That means just and reasonable rates. The law says there is need in the public interest for adequate and efficient railway transportation service at the lowest cost consistent with furnishing such service.

In other words, all the railroads ask is sufficient revenue to enable them, under honest, economical and efficient management, to provide the kind of service people want.

Some examples of increased costs since 1939, affecting railroad operation

Increased freight rates since 1939 have increased the revenue from hauling the average ton of freight one mile
